INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and Reading of Bills.

30. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in place and address the Speaker, and upon being recognized shall present the same. It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading, whether it is the first, second or third reading. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments

31. Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee; and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the Constitution. Proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be treated the same as bills; provided, they shall be read but once, and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills.

32. In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" of "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. After these two roll calls, bills, constitutional amendments, joint or concurrent resolutions shall be introduced by members on recognition of the Speaker, as provided by the rules of the Assembly; and all bills, constitutional amendments or joint or concurrent resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Introduction of Bills by Committee.

33. Any committee may introduce a bill appertaining to any subject coming within its consideration, whereupon it shall be read the first time and placed upon the proper second-reading file. When such bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, read, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

34. Immediately upon convening after the constitutional recess the Speaker shall appoint a standing Committee on Introduction of Bills, to consist of three members.

All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills," and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill. The author of any bill shall have not more than ten minutes within which to speak to the question of the introduction of his bill and the Committee on Introduction of Bills may have the same time for reply.

REFERENCE TO COMMITTEES.

Reference of Bills.

35. At the time of introduction the Speaker shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Assembly by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. A motion to re-refer a bill shall be debatable as to the propriety of such re-reference.

Order of Reference.

36. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

The Committee of the Whole House.

A Standing Committee.

A Select Committee

Referring with Special Instructions.

37. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment to a select committee, under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Senate Bills.

38. When a Senate bill has been received by the House with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to a standing committee; provided, however, that when a Senate bill is received the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of an Assembly bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Assembly, such Senate bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report on the next legislative day whether or not said bill is identical with the Assembly bill; and if reported identical, shall be read the second time, be substituted for the Assembly bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take the latter's place on the Assembly file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Assembly committee, provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

Bills to Be Reported Back to Committees.

39. All committees shall act upon bills, constitutional amendments and resolutions referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill, constitutional amendment or resolution from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

Order of Making File.

40. Upon the introduction of bills they shall be read the first time, and referred to committees as provided in Rule 30. When reported back they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Clerk, as follows: All bills when reported to the House by the committees, except such bills as are by the report re-referred to another committee, shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the House. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present, such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than the absence of the author by leave of the Assembly, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time the bill shall be ordered to the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File. The Clerk shall post, in a conspicuous place in the Chamber, a daily statement of the bills on the General File, setting forth the order in which they were filed, and specifying the alterations arising from the disposal of business each day.

Order of Making Special File.

41. The Clerk shall, from time to time, make up a file, to be known as the Special File, on which he shall place bills relating to appropriations for the support of the state government and state institutions, revenue, election laws and constitutional amendments, in the order named, and in the order in which the same may be reported to the Assembly, and he shall place no other bills thereon, nor shall any bill on the General File be substituted for any bill thereon.

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

42. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the Speaker to third reading (or, in the case of Assembly bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

43. No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the Assembly after being recommended by the Speaker of the Assembly.

QUESTIONS AND MOTIONS.

44. When a question is under debate, or before the House, no motion shall be received but: To adjourn; to lay on the table; for the previous question; to postpone to a day certain; to commit or amend; to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named, but the first three shall be decided without debate; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have preference over a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. A dilatory motion shall not be considered intervening business within the meaning of parliamentary usage.

Division of Questions.

45. Any member may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither a motion to add to nor a motion to strike out and insert

Substitute.

46. A motion to substitute shall be deemed and held to be a motion to amend, and be treated in all respects as such.

Subjects Different from the One Under Consideration.

47. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment

Question Indefinitely Postponed.

48. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not again be introduced during the session

PROCEDURE OF DEBATE.

Motions to Be Stated by Speaker, and if Desired Shall Be Reduced to Writing, or May Be Withdrawn.

49. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the Speaker; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker, or any member, and be read by the Clerk, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn, by leave of the House, at any time before amendment or decision.

Order in Speaking to Questions.

50. Every member, when he speaks, shall, standing in his place, address "Mr. Speaker," and when he has finished he shall sit down. No member shall speak more than twice during the consideration of any one question, of whatever nature, on the same day and at the same stage of proceedings, without leave being granted, except the author of a bill or resolution, or mover of a question, who shall have the right to close the debate. No member shall be allowed to speak more than fifteen minutes upon any question except by leave of the House, and except further, the author shall be allowed fifteen minutes to open and fifteen minutes to close

Speaker to Decide Who Is Entitled to the Place.

51. When two or more members shall rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

Calling Members to Order When Transgressing Rules.

52. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed; but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

Called to Order for Offensive Words in Debate.

53. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure of the House, for language used in debate, if any member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken

Questions of Order After Previous Question Is Ordered.

56. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion or previous question, shall be decided (whether on appeal or otherwise) without debate; provided, that after the previous question shall have been ordered, ten minutes shall be allowed for explanation of the matters covered by the previous question, of which five minutes shall be given to the member moving the previous question, and five minutes to those opposed thereto.

Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted, except upon a roll call, and it shall require forty-one votes to adopt the motion.

PRESENTATION OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM D. STEPHENS.

Hon. Arthur H. Breed, President pro tempore of the Senate, then presented Governor William D. Stephens to the Joint Assembly. The Governor then delivered his Inaugural Address as follows:

SECOND INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM D. STEPHENS

To the Members of the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California:

Conscious of the great honor conferred upon me by the people of California, grateful that they have reposed such trust in me, and realizing fully the difficulties and the responsibilities confronting me, I have taken an oath to serve all the people of this great State to the best of my ability.

You and I are to be fellow workers in the public service. Together we must face the perplexing problems which the future holds. These we must meet with courage, with sincerity and with unswerving devotion to the public good. Working in this spirit we can do much to promote the development and welfare of the people of this great State. I seek your help and co-operation and at all times it will be my pleasure to render to you all the assistance I can.

Since last I addressed the Legislature in joint assembly, a world war has been fought and won. Events have occurred of such momentous importance as to modify, if not completely to alter, the thought and purposes of men and women throughout the world.

The occasion of my last meeting with you in March, 1917, was to make provision for participation in the colossal struggle in which our country was soon to become involved. Those were days of grim determination, but California was ready with unflinching courage to meet the shock of the most brutal warfare that history has known.

With sad but proud hearts we gave the best of our young men for the front. More than 135,000 Californians donned Uncle Sam's uniform and went forth with resolute purpose to endure whatever of danger and of sacrifice was necessary to hasten the bright day of peace.

Quicker than we had dared to hope, that day of peace has dawned. Our brave defenders are coming back to us, and we look forward with joyous hearts to their return. Unhappily some who went will not come back. California's service flag will be emblazoned with two thousand stars of gold, and to the memory of those dead heroes we all join in tributes of honor and affection.

I am proud of the sound patriotism shown by our people at every stage of the war. California's war record is an inspiring object lesson of the triumph of popular government. Every call from Washington was answered promptly, and with a thoroughness that demonstrated the splendid, patriotic fervor of our people. Not once did California fail or even lag in the heavy demands made upon our resources and our man power.

Today we are face to face with the problems of peace. History records that the aftermath of war is usually a period of industrial depression. The sudden release of the soldiers and their restoration to the vocations from which they were called by the clang of war has caused some persons to fear that history will be repeated and that at least a temporary slackening of the country's industrial activities is inevitable.

But there is no occasion for even a shadow of gloom concerning the industrial situation. California is this moment at the threshold of the greatest industrial era in its history. What is needed most at this time is confidence in the future. Our people must devote themselves to the problems of peace with the same earnest zeal with which they devoted themselves to the problems of war. The surplus labor that may result from the transition from war-time to peace-time activities can and will be quickly absorbed. The tasks that were suspended when war was declared must now be taken up and carried forward promptly and intelligently. If that is done, there will be employment for everyone, and our people will at once begin to enjoy the real fruits of a well-earned peace.

The successful termination of the war, toward which the United States in the last two years has made such stupendous contributions of men, of money and of materials, not only has provided for the security of free institutions and has made safe the honor and lives of the women and children of the world, but has rendered it imperative that popular government justify itself by demonstrating that a republican form of government is the best and most efficient government yet devised by men. It must be shown that such government imposes a minimum of burdens and provides a maximum of benefits—that the average industrious and right-minded citizen, living under a government such as ours, not only enjoys a larger personal freedom than he would have under any other form of government, but that as well he is enabled to secure for himself and for his family a larger share of the necessities and the comforts of life. Popular government in its final analysis must be judged by the measure in which it promotes the happiness and the welfare of all the people.

It is reasonable to believe—and our own experience has proved—that when the people themselves arrange, order and control public institutions all secure greater benefits from government than when the people submit to the rule of the few who regard government primarily as an agency to serve their own special or private ends.

The terrific struggle through which we have just passed has humbled the despot and overthrown the tyrant. Kaiser and czar and king have been sloughed into the discard of the ages. With them has gone, or soon will go, each and every form of special privilege.

Neither birth, nor race, nor position, nor wealth will procure any immunity or unjust privilege for any person; but every human being, by virtue of his birthright, will stand equal before the law in every quarter of the globe.

In this world-trend toward democratic government every true American should find peculiar pride and gratification. In the great sisterhood of republics, the United States has furnished the inspiration and example and ever must retain first place.

California, the most truly democratic commonwealth in the Union, also greatly rejoices that the hope and aspiration of the honest, intelligent and right-minded people of all lands, is to work out for themselves exactly such institutions as we have secured for ourselves.

But the very fact that California is the most truly democratic state in the Union, brings with it a sense of responsibility that may not be lightly regarded. The cause of popular government throughout the world, in some measure, will be advanced or retarded as we here work out our problems. We must see to it that nothing is done in California that will militate against the success of that great movement which embodies the aspirations of almost the entire human race. Rather must we so arrange and order our affairs that they may most successfully contribute to our own welfare and happiness and at the same time prove an inspiration and an encouragement to those in other lands who are striving to establish government by and for the people.

Our laws must be so just and fair and our institutions so beneficent that there will exist neither reason nor excuse for discontent. It is true that there does exist a treasonable propaganda directed against all order and against all law, which is wholly destructive and unreasoning, and which is a menace not only to honest labor, but threatens as well to plunge the whole human race back in the savagery and misery from which it sprang.

I refer to that anarchistic movement which in Europe is termed the Bolshevik and has its counterpart here in the so-called I. W. W. Some of these inciters of violence falsely claim to be acting in behalf of laboring men, an assertion which labor denies and resents. It is important that every person should understand that neither labor—organized or unorganized—nor any honest man who works either with his hands or with his brain has anything in common with these skulking wielders of the torch and contemptible setters of time-explosions.

Unless vigorously punished and stamped out this evil thing will destroy labor as completely as it will destroy every other existing thing which is honest, and noble and right. We must not ignore this present danger. Not only must we visit the full weight of the law upon these lawless fiends, but we must meet their vicious propaganda with an aroused public sentiment. There is need for an organization to point out the falsities and the impossibilities of terrorist doctrines. In this work honest labor might well take the lead.

One phase of the labor problem which immediately concerns us is finding work for returning soldiers. It is our duty to provide employment for every one of our brave boys who was willing to die, if need be, that free government, such as ours, might live.

Happily, California is in position to furnish immediate employment upon the highways of the State. I have arranged with the Highway Commission that returning soldiers shall have preference and that work will be provided on the highways for every California soldier that needs it.

California owes much to its splendid women and many of our best laws and improved conditions are due directly to woman's participation in public affairs equally with men. It is fitting that the women of this State who live under the laws should have a voice in making these laws. For the first time women are sitting as members of the California Legislature. I desire to welcome them among us. I am sure their influence and their work will prove highly beneficial to the State.

The year just closed brought to an end a period of great strain, and of great sacrifice—a period which applied the acid test to character. At the commencement of this year we look forward to an era of peace and prosperity. With thanks to a Divine Providence who has guided us through the dark and fearful days of war, we enter upon our new duties with new courage, new hope and new resolve.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE

The Hon. E. C. Hart, Justice of the Third District Court of Appeal, administered the oath of office to Lieutenant Governor-elect Hon. C. C. Young, as follows:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of Lieutenant Governor according to the best of my ability.

PRESENTATION OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR C. C. YOUNG.

Hon. Arthur H. Breed, President pro tempore of the Senate, presented Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young to the Joint Assembly, and the Lieutenant Governor delivered his Inaugural Address as follows:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR C. C. YOUNG.

To the Members of the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California:

I do not know the origin of the custom which has decreed that the Lieutenant Governor-elect shall "deliver an address" at these inaugural ceremonies. To me it has always seemed that this day belongs peculiarly to the Governor, and that to him alone should be given the time and attention of an audience like this.

Inasmuch as custom has so decreed, however, and inasmuch as it is always easier to follow custom than to break it, I shall say a few words today, but not so much as an incoming Lieutenant Governor as an outgoing member of the Legislature.

LEGISLATIVE TENURE.

Ten years ago I first came to this Capitol Building as the most verdant of freshmen Assemblymen. Ten years has been a very short time in which to learn the business of legislation, and at the end of that ten years, though I have tried to apply myself as industriously as I could, I feel that I have made only a beginning in my attempts to learn it. Yet as I look over the rolls of both Houses of this Legislature, I see the name of only one man of the entire one hundred and twenty who has been here for a longer period than I.

This is all wrong. Any commercial institution which would retain its oldest employees only ten or twelve years, and which would make an entire change in the majority of its employees every two years, would be an anomaly in the business world. And yet this is the legislative situation, not only in California, but, so far as I know, in every American State. It necessarily means government by amateurs as far as legislatures are concerned; and it is a splendid tribute to the genius for self-government on the part of the American people, and to the powers of adaptability on the part of American legislators, that under such circumstances the laws of our various States are anywhere nearly as good as they are.

I do not know what may be the remedy for this far too brief tenure of office of those elected to our Legislatures. I suspect that this condition is only a part of an outworn and archaic legislative system, and that some day some State will overcome the inherent conservatism of its citizens as regards such matters, and will set an entirely new legislative model for other States to follow. That is exactly what has happened during the last twenty years in American municipal governments, and I believe we may look forward with confidence to a similar rational reorganization in the government of our States.

A POLITICAL REVOLUTION.

So much for theory. Now for a little history. I have said that my legislative experience covers only a brief ten years. Yet, brief as that time has been, it has been long enough to witness an entire political revolution in the State of California. "Revolution" is exactly the word, for it has meant an overturning of conditions where entrenched vested interests governed the State, to a condition where the State governs these same vested interests,—not only governs them, but governs them so well and so fairly that no sane man would think for a moment of returning to former conditions.

I have not the time, nor is it necessary in this presence, to review in any detail the splendid program of constructive legislation which has been enacted in California during the past eight years. It is all embodied in the governmental philosophy that the man is of more importance than the dollar, and that the true objects of government consist in the happiness and well-being of the people. This has meant putting the government completely into the hands of the people, and we in California have done this without fear and without reserve. Better a government administered by the people themselves, even though some of us may believe it is at times unwisely administered, than a government administered from without by a benignant corporate control.

SOME FORMER SESSIONS.

Those of us who were in the Legislature at the time well remember the session of 1911. We remember the legislative conferences which preceded that session, and the carefully prepared laws which were at that time written into our statutes. We remember also with pardonable pride the commendation given us at the close of that session by the splendid man whose untimely passing the nation today so deeply mourns. It was in the evening of the very last day of the session of 1911 that Colonel Roosevelt addressed the members of the Legislature at a monster meeting in a neighboring city—I think the largest meeting of the kind I have ever attended. On that occasion he stated in effect that at its recent session the Legislature of California had enacted, in the way of constructive, humanitarian and progressive legislation, not only more and better laws than had been enacted during the current session by all the other States of the Union put together, but also more and better laws than had ever been enacted by any one State during the whole period of its existence. Words like these from a man like that are written too deep upon our memories for time to easily efface.

The session of 1913 was much like the session of 1911 along the lines of constructive accomplishment. Then it was that the phrase "freak legislation" was coined; and practically every one of the important bills of that session enacted into law was passed despite the vociferous cries of "freak measure" on the part of an ultra-conservative or a consciously or unconsciously subsidized press. To take a single illustration, we may recall the passage of the bill which has provided our present industrial accident relief—a measure which has grown to mean so much, not only to the employees, but also to the employers of California. On the morning before this bill became a law, there was placed upon the desk of every Assemblyman a copy of that morning's issue of a metropolitan daily, a large portion of which was filled with violent denunciations of the proposed law, and of the unutterable harm it would do to our industrial system. Yet it is safe to say that this same daily, conservative as it is, would not now venture editorially to suggest a repeal, or even any fundamental modification, of this law.

SAFEGUARDING OUR ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

And so it is with most of our forward-looking legislation of the past eight years. Time has proved and is proving its inherent wisdom and justice. That we have made mistakes in various details is very true. We should not have been human had we not done so. Changing conditions, of course, will from time to time demand modifications and changes in many of these laws, but they must be changed by their friends and not by their enemies.

To be sure, there are a few—a very few—unfortunately more or less influential moulders of public sentiment which would, if they dared, undo all we have done, and put us back exactly where we were ten years ago. During all these years they have been insidiously endeavoring to poison the public mind against what they are pleased sneeringly to denominate "reform legislation." They are particularly active at the present time, and their present cry is directed at what they call the expensive character of our government—and this despite the fact that the great bulk of our expense is taken up by our excellently managed public institutions, our highways and our schools, where not a single dollar may be safely spared.

Economy in itself is a praiseworthy and necessary thing. Wherever money can be saved by readjustments which make for efficiency, such readjustments should, of course, be made. If we, as legislators, did not save to the State every dollar that is wastefully or extravagantly spent, we should have little right to be here. But if, at the behest of those whose real object is to wipe out all we have achieved, we wantonly cripple those achievements on the ostensible plea of saving money, our right to be here would be still less.

LEADERSHIP OF TWO GOVERNORS.

We have gone a long way forward in California—gone forward inspired by the hearty approval of a splendid people whose heart is fundamentally sound, whose ideals are fundamentally high. In fairness to that people, there must now be no backward step. We have made many of our advances under the far-seeing and fearless leadership of one who has left our State to become a notable leader in the councils of the nation. And we shall continue those advances under the wise and loyal leadership of the man upon this platform whom we today delight to honor. I take the liberty of quoting from one of Governor Stephens' published statements, words like these:

"During the past seven years our State has experienced a development governmentally as well as economically, which in so short a time surpasses the history of like achievement in any other State. * * * So long as I am Governor, there will be in California no lowering of the industrial and social standards which have been built up after so many years of struggle against greed, avarice and corporation tyranny."

It is to a Chief Executive bearing a message like this that I today am more than glad to pledge my hearty co-operation. To the members of the Assembly who have so generously honored me during the past six years by permitting me to preside in that body, and to the members of the Senate, where, by virtue of my new office, I am now called to preside, I wish to pay my very sincere respects. I trust that we together are entering upon an administration which shall add new lustre to California's record of the past eight years.

The coming four years will be years freighted with the problems incident to the establishment of a new world era. It is now the privilege of all of us to help solve these problems without taking a single backward step, or without lowering a single particle of those governmental ideals which have upheld us in the past. To this service I now desire, with you, to dedicate myself.

PRESENTATION OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM D. STEPHENS.

Hon. C. C. Young, President of the Senate, then presented Governor William D. Stephens to the Joint Assembly. The Governor then delivered his Biennial Message as follows:

FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM D. STEPHENS.

To the Senate and Assembly:

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution, and following the precedent set by my predecessors, I transmit to you herewith my biennial message.

Since last we met in these halls events of the most tremendous importance have occurred. Issues involving the liberty, the happiness and the welfare of practically all the people comprising the various nations of the earth have been determined on the bloody battle fronts of Europe.

The greatest war in the world's history has been fought, and it has been settled for all time that Right shall not prevail against Right. The world has been made safe for free institutions and for free human beings. Despots have been deposed, hateful systems of government have been overturned, ancient wrongs have been righted, and the peoples of all lands now have it within their power to create for themselves beneficent institutions such as we here enjoy.

Our own Declaration of Independence has been extended so that the principles therein set forth have become applicable to the people of all lands. Henceforth, not only in America but throughout the world, government must be based "upon the consent of the governed."

To the wonderful victory which has been won the United States made tremendous contributions of men, of money and of supplies. The work performed by our country, after entrance into the war, was truly marvelous and serves to disclose our vast resources, the boundless energy of our people, their genius for creating huge organizations and their unflinching patriotism and devotion to American ideals. All of us can well be proud of the part which the United States took in the great war.

California also has particular reason to feel proud of her record during the war. No less than 135,000 young men—the bravest and best the State had to give—entered the service of Uncle Sam and stood ready to make the supreme sacrifice, if need be, that we might govern ourselves wisely and sanely and continue to enjoy the blessings of free institutions and of liberty under the law.

To those of our brave sons who gave their lives that we might live, to those who were maimed or wounded, or suffered want or hardship; to those who served in any way, we owe a debt of gratitude which can not be repaid and never will be forgotten.

In every war activity California has done her whole part. There has been no appeal for money that has not been oversubscribed, and every service rendered to our defenders by the organized patriotism of the Nation, has found most enthusiastic support here.

At this moment when the representatives of the Allied Nations are preparing to assemble about the peace table, it would seem fitting that California's Legislature by appropriate resolution present to our President and those who may represent this Nation at the peace conclave and to the Congress, our insistence that Germany be made to realize the awfulness of the crimes she committed and be compelled to make the fullest possible measure of restitution for the fearful havoc and destruction so deliberately and so cruelly inflicted.

It will be the duty of the Legislature, as it also will be the duty of Congress, immediately to direct attention to the problems of the returning soldiers. California must provide for the fullest cooperation with the national government in the care, rehabilitation and re-education of any who may return to us maimed or crippled, and must see to it that such are placed in appropriate occupations. Opportunity also must be given for those in sound health, to the end that all may become self-supporting and feel themselves secure in personal contentment and social happiness.

California can materially assist in providing homes for our valiant defenders. Large tracts of public lands in this State remain possible of reclamation and irrigation. There should be the closest co-operation between the Federal and State governments in bringing these large tracts under reclamation and irrigation and of opening such lands to settlement on long-time payments and with provision for credit for improvements.

With pardonable pride I call attention to the fact that since I became Chief Executive, California has taken up in a practical way the question of land settlement. It was the first state to do so, and the Land Settlement Board of this State did much of the pioneer work in the movement which since has been taken up by the Federal government and by certain of the states.

The Land Settlement Board of California already has demonstrated that it is practical to purchase large tracts of privately-owned lands, to bring them under irrigation, subdivide them into small tracts, and sell them to settlers upon long-time credit without loss to the State. It is highly desirable that the State carry forward these development and settlement projects to the fullest possible extent, either on its own account or in co-operation with the Federal government, and that soldiers and sailors be given the preference in the purchase of such lands.

It is manifest that the State must interest itself in the further development and impounding of water for irrigation purposes. The Federal government offers substantial encouragement and with our co-operation great areas of arid lands in California can be brought under the intense cultivation that has already marked so signally the progress of our State.

If legislation is sought to carry forward local or district projects we should give careful and considerate attention. We should not fail to give an expression of our desire to co-operate with the Federal government and of our strong approval of the policy that is being advocated in Washington for land development in the West.

Coincident with irrigation expansion will come the development of our wonderful hydroelectric resources. The development of this power will prove a great stimulus to industrial activity. California, by reason of its nearness to the high Sierras, should have the cheapest electrical power in America, and this, together with its unfailing supply of raw materials and its easy access by cheap water transportation to the great markets of the world, should render this, in time, one of the greatest manufacturing states in the Union.

Immediate employment for our returning men may be provided by pushing forward, with utmost speed, the completion of the state highways, for which the people have already voted bonds. The various uncompleted links in the great highways, traversing from north to south the coast and the interior of the State, should be finished as speedily as possible. On this necessary work employment can be found for every California soldier who does not secure other work immediately upon his return.

Not only should the main highways extending the length of the State be pushed to early completion, but I would suggest the advisability of constructing a highway connecting points in our great Central Valley with the coast. And it is to be hoped that every encouragement of law will be given to counties and to road districts for the development of lateral roads. In this day when farmers till their fields with implements propelled by gas engines and haul their crops in auto trucks, even the old-fashioned country road serving only the need of local residents, has assumed an importance never attached to it heretofore. If there are needed changes in road laws to permit small groups of farmers to provide themselves with rural roads such changes should be carefully considered.

One of the early problems resulting from demobilization of the Army and Navy will be industrial readjustment. Many industries and many occupations now are wholly dependent upon a continuation of warfare. These industries must be changed over so as to supply the needs of peace and in these and other peace-time trades must the workers be well paid and well protected. The foundations of our new industries of peace must be broad enough to care not only for the workers in war industries, but for returning soldiers as well.

The problems of labor are among the most important with which we have to deal. Labor is entitled to receive a larger share of the profits of industry than heretofore it has obtained. The rights of labor must not be abridged or impaired. The high mark set by the Legislature of California in the enactment of just and humane laws respecting labor must be maintained. There should be no lowering of the social and industrial standards which have been written into our laws after years of struggle against greed and avarice. Every law which hereafter shall concern the relations either of labor or of capital should be based upon principles of even and exact justice.

Among the advocates of the ruthless exercise of industrial destruction, without regard for principles of right and justice, stand the false friends of honest labor, those cowardly and disloyal industrial terrorists, the so-called I. W. W. element.

These Huns of Industry seek the destruction of every honest impulse and of every fair and just rule which men out of their age-long experience have created for their mutual benefit. These terrorists do not represent labor, but are the bitter enemies of all honest workers. During the war they did all in their power to aid the enemy. They must be suppressed with a determined hand, and I would recommend the enactment of such stringent legislation as will aid and assist the officers of the law in more effectively dealing with this law-defying element.

The government of California must be both efficient and economical. A government that is not economical—that does not receive full value for every dollar expended—lacks something in efficiency. The services rendered by the government of California to the people of California are very great. While the people of this State, without doubt, directly receive greater benefits from their government than do the people of any other commonwealth, it also is true that the cost of government has materially increased. This increase has occasioned criticism in some quarters, particularly where insufficient consideration has been given to the many and most material benefits conferred by our State government.

Recognizing that the people should have an exact knowledge of what they get for every dollar spent for governmental purposes, I have caused a survey of our various administrative boards and commissions to be made by a committee of citizens and officials. This committee will make a critical examination of the powers, duties and internal organization of all boards and commissions, and will ascertain to what extent their powers and duties may overlap and what economies may be effected without impairing the quality of the service.

Without anticipating the report of the committee I am convinced that economies can be effected through the better organization and co-ordination of these great administrative agencies. As I pointed out to the members of the committee, the government of California has been reconstructed in the last few years, during which time, we have experienced a development along social humanitarian and industrial lines which surpasses the achievement of any other State. Exactly the same results, however, follow in governmental development as follow expansion in private business, and as in private business, after growth and development, we now must remove all extraneous and unnecessary expense and practice the strictest economy in carrying on the State's activities. As I said to the committee I now say to your honorable bodies, that if there be debris and structural staging, necessary to the work of building, but unnecessary and expensive to proper maintenance, such nonessentials must be removed.

On the other hand I have no sympathy whatever with the cry for a reduction of expenditures to a point which would destroy the highly beneficial service now rendered to the people of the State. It is not particularly important whether the government of California costs more or less per capita than that of some other states. The problems of these other states are not our problems. If they care to spend less than we do for the education of the young, for the safety and protection of working men and working women, for the care and operation of public institutions, for the building of highways, and for the safeguarding of person and property, that is their own concern. A state which is too parsimonious to render services that the people have a right to expect is not entitled to special commendation.

The problem which confronts us is this. The people of California have demanded that their government shall render certain services and perform certain work. Those services and that work are being performed. The people have a right, as well, to expect and demand that the costs be kept at the lowest possible point consistent with good service. That demand is wholly reasonable, and it is our business to see to it that the wish of the people in this respect, as well as in all other things, is carried into effect.

In the promotion of governmental efficiency, the need of the revision of the Constitution of our State is outstanding. I am convinced that the people realize that such a step is imperative, and that now is an acceptable time to initiate a proposal for a Constitutional Convention in order that it may be voted upon at the next general election.

The only hesitancy heretofore in taking such a step has been the concern that the important amendments such as those providing for the initiative, referendum and recall, the direct primary, the reorganization of the State Railroad Commission, and other vital factors of California's governmental advances might be placed in jeopardy. We have, however, passed the period of such a danger. Those provisions have now become thoroughly fundamental. They are securely established beyond the range of successful attack, and we may now safely proceed with the rewriting of the State's Constitution. I therefore invite your earnest consideration of a resolution whereby you may submit to the people the question of calling a Constitutional Convention.

During the period of the war the people of the United States cheerfully bore new and heavy burdens of taxation imposed by Federal authority. For many years to come the National government will be compelled to levy heavy taxes to care for our great war debt. In view of this heavy and unusual burden of taxation, made necessary by the war, it is but fair and just that the State and the various subdivisions of government hold expenditures to the lowest possible point consistent with good service, particularly until such time as the extraordinary drain occasioned by the war shall be terminated.

In view of the fact that the Federal and many of the state governments are levying taxes upon inheritances, and that it may be expected that more and more the Federal government will seek a large share of its revenue from sources now taxed by the State, one of the most important subjects to be worked out in the immediate future is the devising of a uniform system of taxation and for the co-relating of State and National tax levies and collections.

One of the suggestions widely discussed by the National Tax Association last year at Atlanta, Georgia, was that only one tax should be levied upon inheritances and that should be by Federal authority, a certain portion of the collected tax—preferably one-half—being turned over by the National government to the state in which the property is located. Such an arrangement would result in uniformity in estate taxation throughout the Union. I would respectfully suggest that by appropriate resolution your honorable bodies express your views concerning the course you believe the National Congress should take in this matter.

At the last session of the Legislature a law was enacted providing that no governing body of any political subdivision in the State should, in any year, make tax levies which in the aggregate would produce an amount more than five per cent in excess of the amount produced by tax levies made thereby during the year immediately preceding, except by the consent of a State Board of Authorization, consisting of the State Controller, the Chairman of the State Board of Control, the Chairman of the State Board of Equalization, one member of the State Board of Control and one other person in the State service to be appointed by the Governor.

I approved this bill because I believed that it would check expenditures and decrease waste and extravagance. A referendum petition was filed against the bill for the reason that many persons feared that it would prohibit necessary increases in taxes levied for the support of schools.

In the last election the bill was defeated. I am still of the opinion that the principle of such limitation on taxes levied is a proper one, and I recommend that the bill be re-enacted with such provisions as will prevent its operation as a detriment to the maintenance of the schools.

Because of the influenza epidemic a grave problem confronts our public schools. It has been found necessary to close them for long periods in many places and attendance in general has been greatly diminished throughout the State. As a result of this situation there will be a large decrease in the average daily attendance upon which under the present law, the support of the public schools is based.

I feel that we should do everything possible to maintain the integrity of our school system and to that end I commend to you legislation which will give the schools support based upon an average daily attendance which may be estimated from the attendance and increases of recent years.

While the women of California for several years have enjoyed political equality with men, it was not until the emergency created by the war that women demonstrated they were entitled also to be accorded full industrial equality. It is to be hoped that soon everywhere it will be recognized that women are entitled to equal pay with men for equal service. Also in matters which will come before the Legislature it should not be forgotten that women have fully earned by their own accomplishments, every political, civil and industrial right that men possess.

For the first time in the history of the State, women will serve as members of the California Legislature, and I am sure that the public welfare will be greatly promoted by this direct participation of women in the making of laws. Ever since women have had the ballot they have exercised a healthy and desirable influence upon legislation. That influence always has been exercised in behalf of fair and just measures. Many of our best laws are directly due to the fact that women have the ballot. Now that they not only vote but as well directly assist in making the laws we may be certain that there will be still further improvement in our laws and in our institutions.

One of the important subjects which will come before you will be the ratification of the prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution. Believing as I do, that the welfare of every human being will be greatly promoted by the total extinction of the liquor traffic, I hope that California will have the proud distinction of being one of the early states to vote approval of this amendment. Within a few weeks the necessary number of states will have ratified the amendment, and I respectfully but none the less strongly urge ratification here at the earliest possible moment.

Firm in the conviction that our direct primary law should be strengthened wherever possible, I desire to call your attention to a needed change in that law. The members of every political party should be secure in their right to have upon the ballot at the general election a candidate of their own choosing. The recent primary election demonstrated a vital defect in the present law, and steps should be taken to have that defect corrected at once.

With the conclusion of the war there has come an end to the activities of the State Council of Defense, and its various county branches. The work performed by that body and the patriotic organizations, national and state, associated with it in co-ordinating war activities, in collecting accurate data, in developing the productive power of the State, in guarding against hostile propaganda, in preventing selfish and unscrupulous persons from taking advantage of the patriotic impulses of the people and in directing into the most practical channels the energies of those who wished to assist in winning the war, has been such as to command the lasting gratitude of all our people.

Allow me to express the gratification that I feel over the zeal and ability with which our various agencies of State government have been conducted. My responsibility for a proper administration of the laws leads to an exacting attitude towards those who directly administer them. I insist that there shall be the same standard of diligence and accomplishment in the public business as in private business. I am happy to say that in the twenty-one months that I have been Governor the instances have been rare in which this high plane of endeavor to serve the public has not been maintained. Where this energy and faithful purpose that characterizes our State government has not been maintained I have not hesitated to correct the shortcoming.

More and more do we see the great benefits accruing from the death blow given to the spoils system by the introduction of civil service. Merit is the only determining standard. I am frank to say that it is a matter of keen satisfaction and pleasure to me as Governor to work with such a splendid body of men and women who are possessed in unusual degree of the ideals and the resolution to make of our State government what the people of California desire it to be—clean and effective, and inspired with the aim and purpose to render service for the public welfare.

We owe a warm word of appreciation to the patriotic men and women in the State service for their loyal and indefatigable zeal during the war. It is literally true that clerks and stenographers and heads of many departments remained at their desks through long days and nights when so many tremendous responsibilities suddenly devolved upon us. For many months there was no such thing as a holiday in some of our offices. We found that our departments contained men and women of initiative and of strength to meet the critical situation for which there had been little preparation. Everyone was eager to do his part to help the people of California meet the shock of war and to attain that record of achievement which it did attain and of which we are so proud.

I look forward to happy service in behalf of the people of California. My task will be easier and my opportunity all the greater because of the high character of the men and women by whom our governmental work is being carried on.

Wherever our high mark of requirement is not fulfilled I shall continue to be exacting. Wherever it is maintained there will be that hearty co-operation on my part that seeks its only reward in the satisfaction of work well done and in the appreciation the people of California are so ready to show to those who faithfully serve them.

I will later submit a report to you from the Efficiency Commission regarding various agencies of the State government. Meantime there are available for your perusal and study the printed reports required by law.

All bills for the appropriation of money, which were not at first referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, shall be reported to the House by the committees having them under consideration, and shall thereupon, without motion, be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means; and said committee shall consider and report thereon the amount of appropriation required. The Committee on Attaches, in co-operation with the Chief Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms, shall exercise general supervision over and shall systematize the work of all attaches.

The Committee on Attaches shall see to it that attaches shall not receive their per diem until they have been sworn in, and that the per diem of attaches shall be forfeited for each day on which they are absent from their duties without excuse from the authority delegated by the Committee.

All assignments of committee clerks and stenographers made by the Committee on Attaches under this rule shall be reported to the House and entered in the Journal.

DUTIES OF ASSEMBLY OFFICERS AND ATTACHES.

Duties of Chief Clerk

25. The Chief Clerk shall have charge and supervision of all the clerical business of the Assembly. He shall perform the duties imposed on him by law and the rules of the Assembly. Subject to the provisions of Rule 67, he and his assistants shall read from the desk only such matters as the Speaker shall direct. He shall have the supervision of all the clerks and assistants at the desk, of all bill clerks, bill filers, stenographers, and of all committee attaches, and all pages, and shall be responsible for their performance of and regular attendance upon their duties and shall have power to suspend any such clerk or attache under him for dereliction of duty, and shall report to the Committee on Attaches such suspension and the cause thereof. Said suspended clerk or attache shall not receive any pay during the time of such suspension. The Committee on Attaches shall have the power to relieve the attache or clerk of his suspension, and shall have the power, subject to the approval of the House, to remove any clerk or attache for incompetency or for wilful neglect of duty. The Chief Clerk shall not permit any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, and take receipts therefor.

29. No attache of the Assembly shall demand or receive from any person any compensation other than that provided by law for services performed as such attache.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and Reading of Bills.

30. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in place and address the Speaker, and upon being recognized shall present the same. It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading, whether it is the first, second or third reading. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

31. Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee; and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the Constitution. Proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be treated the same as bills; provided, they shall be read but once, and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills.

32. In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" of "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. After these two roll calls, bills, constitutional amendments, joint or concurrent resolutions shall be introduced by members on recognition of the Speaker, as provided by the rules of the Assembly; and all bills, constitutional amendments or joint or concurrent resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Introduction of Bills by Committee.

33. Any committee may introduce a bill appertaining to any subject coming within its consideration, whereupon it shall be read the first time and placed upon the proper second-reading file. When such bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, read, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

34. Immediately upon convening after the constitutional recess the Speaker shall appoint a standing Committee on Introduction of Bills, to consist of three members.

All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills," and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill. The author of any bill shall have not more than ten minutes within which to speak to the question of the introduction of his bill and the Committee on Introduction of Bills may have the same time for reply.

REFERENCE TO COMMITTEES.

Reference of Bills.

35. At the time of introduction the Speaker shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Assembly by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. A motion to re-refer a bill shall be debatable as to the propriety of such re-reference.

Order of Reference.

36. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

The Committee of the Whole House.

A Standing Committee.

A Select Committee.

Referring with Special Instructions.

37. No amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment to a select committee, under special instructions to amend.

Reference of Senate Bills.

38. When a Senate bill has been received by the House with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to a standing committee; provided, however, that when a Senate bill is received the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of an Assembly bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Assembly, such Senate bill shall be referred to the Committee on Encroachment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report on the next legislative day whether or not said bill is identical with the Assembly bill; and if reported identical, shall be read the second time, be substituted for the Assembly bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take the latter's place on the Assembly file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Assembly committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

Bills to Be Reported Back to Committees.

39. All committees shall act upon bills, constitutional amendments and resolutions referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule, provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill, constitutional amendment or resolution from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

Order of Making File.

40. Upon the introduction of bills they shall be read the first time, and referred to committees as provided in Rule 30. When reported back they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Clerk, as follows: All bills when reported to the House by the committees, except such bills as are by the report re-referred to another committee, shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the House. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present, such vote to be taken by roll call; provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than the absence of the author by leave of the Assembly, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time the bill shall be ordered to the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File. The Clerk shall post, in a conspicuous place in the Chamber, a daily statement of the bills on the General File, setting forth the order in which they were filed, and specifying the alterations arising from the disposal of business each day.

Order of Making Special File.

41. The Clerk shall, from time to time, make up a file, to be known as the Special File, on which he shall place bills relating to appropriations for the support of the state government and state institutions, revenue, election laws and constitutional amendments, in the order named, and in the order in which the same may be reported to the Assembly, and he shall place no other bills thereon, nor shall any bill on the General File be substituted for any bill thereon.

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

42. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the Speaker to third reading (or, in the case of Assembly bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

43. No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the Assembly after being recommended by the Speaker of the Assembly.

QUESTIONS AND MOTIONS.

44. When a question is under debate, or before the House, no motion shall be received but: To adjourn; to lay on the table; for the previous question; to postpone to a day certain; to commit or amend; to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named, but the first three shall be decided without debate; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have preference over a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection. A dilatory motion shall not be considered intervening business within the meaning of parliamentary usage.

Division of Questions.

45. Any member may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither a motion to add to nor a motion to strike out and insert.

Substitute.

46. A motion to substitute shall be deemed and held to be a motion to amend, and be-treated in all respects as such.

Subjects Different from the One Under Consideration.

47. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Question Indefinitely Postponed.

48. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not again be introduced during the session.

PROCEDURE OF DEBATE.

Motions to Be Stated by Speaker, and if Desired Shall Be Reduced to Writing, or May Be Withdrawn.

49. No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the Speaker; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker, or any member, and be read by the Clerk, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn, by leave of the House, at any time before amendment or decision.

Order in Speaking to Questions.

50. Every member, when he speaks, shall, standing in his place, address "Mr. Speaker," and when he has finished he shall sit down. No member shall speak more than twice during the consideration of any one question, of whatever nature, on the same day and at the same stage of proceedings, without leave being granted, except the author of a bill or resolution, or mover of a question, who shall have the right to close the debate. No member shall be allowed to speak more than fifteen minutes upon any question except by leave of the House, and except further, the author shall be allowed fifteen minutes to open and fifteen minutes to close.

Speaker to Decide Who Is Entitled to the Place.

51. When two or more members shall rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

Calling Members to Order When Transgressing Rules.

52. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed; but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

Called to Order for Offensive Words in Debate.

53. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure of the House, for language used in debate, if any member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

Previous Question Demanded.

54. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members.

Manner of Putting the Previous Question.

55. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the House to a vote on the question or questions before it.

Questions of Order After Previous Question Is Ordered.

56. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion or previous question, shall be decided (whether on appeal or otherwise) without debate; provided, that after the previous question shall have been ordered, ten minutes shall be allowed for explanation of the matters covered by the previous question, of which five minutes shall be given to the member moving the previous question, and five minutes to those opposed thereto

Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session. No motion to reconsider shall be adopted, except upon a roll call, and it shall require forty-one votes to adopt the motion.

MESSAGES, PETITIONS AND PAPERS.

WHEREAS, The direct primary law of this State has proven unsatisfactory to the voters in a number of particulars, among which may be mentioned the provision by which it is possible, as was demonstrated at the last general election, for a number of voters to be denied the privilege of voting for a candidate representing the principles of their party, and that it is subversive of good morals and fair dealing, by permitting candidates to receive more than one party nomination for the same office, for it is a self-evident truth that any person receiving the nomination to political office of two or more parties, opposed in principles of government, must of necessity be recreant to the trust imposed by the constituents of one of the parties he is pledged to represent; now, therefore, be it

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No 4

Relative to the ratification of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, proposed by the Congress of the United States of America, relating to intoxicating liquors.

WHEREAS, The sixty-fifth Congress of the United States of America, at its second session, has adopted Senate Joint Resolution No. 17, two-thirds of each house concurring therein, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, in the following words, to wit.

"Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each house concurring therein), That the following amendment to the constitution be, and hereby is, proposed to the states, to become valid as a part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of the several states as provided by the Constitution.

"Sec. 2 The Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendment will be valid as part of the Constitution of the United States when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and the Assembly of the Legislature of the State of California, jointly, at its forty-third session, commencing on the sixth day of January, 1919, a majority of all the members elected to each house of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, that the said proposed amendment be and the same is hereby ratified by the Legislature of the State of California.

Resolved, further, That certified copies of the foregoing preamble and resolution be forwarded by the Governor of the State of California to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State of the United States, the President of the Senate of the United States, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

STATEMENTS.

The following statements with reference to Senate Joint Resolution No. 4 were received and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Anderson:

I desire to make the following explanation of my vote on Senate Joint Resolution No. 4:

The Thirty-ninth Assembly District is known as a wet district, and I am of the belief that it is wet on account of the many saloons and breweries located in this district.

On Wednesday evening, I attended a meeting of the joint committees on Federal Relations, during the discussion of the merits of the measure, there was told by the representatives of the wet and dry forces of an agreement entered into by the wine interests to close all stand-up bars and saloons in the State. I am taking the position that the entire liquor business should be put on the same plane and not to put the wine interests in a preferred class.

I believe that in voting for this resolution, I am voting according to the wishes of my constituents, that all branches of the industry be treated equal.

FRANK W. ANDERSON.

By Mr. Mathews:

On a question as important as the ratification of the Sheppard amendment to the Federal Constitution, commonly referred to as the bone dry amendment, and one which at the present time so fully occupies the minds of the people, I hold that a member of the Legislature is entitled to make a statement of the reasons for his vote on said question.

In the first instance I submit that this is not primarily a "wet and dry" issue so much as it is a question as to whether or not the majority shall rule. And casting my ballot as I do is with me a matter of principle more than an expression on the merits of the liquor question.

During the last session I opposed the Rominger bill, not because it was totally devoid of merit, but because I thought that the people as a whole should have an opportunity to register an expression at the polls relative to the question. I am following the same line of consistent reasoning in this matter.

At the outset I want it distinctly understood that I am not, either personally or otherwise, under any obligations whatsoever to the liquor interests; on the other hand I may say that I was neither financed nor supported by those who deal in liquor. I made my fight without pledging myself one way or the other. And when you consider that I had two opponents at the primary, one pledged to nation-wide prohibition and the other promising to vote, as legislator, in accordance with the wishes of the people as expressed at the polls on Amendments Nos. 1 and 22, it surely indicates that I won a remarkable victory and that the big rank and file of the people who voted for me either knew me personally or knew of my qualifications. And I submit that it further indicates, in so far as the vote may be taken as an expression on the question of wet and dry, that the majority of the people in my district were not in favor of the ratification of the national amendment.

I am a firm believer in the democratic principle upon which our government is founded that the majority shall rule. And on a question as important as this, one that so vitally affects the property interests of this State, I think that this principle should be invoked, and that the people, with the ballot, should determine this question for themselves.

It is true that the Federal Constitution provides the manner in which amendments thereto shall be ratified. But I submit that this Constitution was adopted long before we ever thought of the principles of the initiative and referendum. And while I would not presume to criticize the framers of the Constitution, I do think that in construing this provision, the people should be broad-minded enough to construe the term "legislature" to include the legislative power of the State, which, by the provisions of our Constitution, includes the initiative and referendum.

This matter contains so many questions of vital importance to so many of the people in different sections of this State, that I submit that no body of one hundred and twenty men should determine the question for them. While the members of the Legislature are elected by and supposed to represent the people of the State, the vote at the last election on propositions Nos. 1 and 22 indicates that by ratifying the national amendment, they will not be carrying out the will of the majority of the people, as expressed by that vote.

When you stop to consider that by the ratification of this amendment, you are taking from certain people in this State millions of dollars' worth of property without compensation, although technically it may be by due process of law, I again repeat that the question is too great to be determined by any body of men, no matter how representative they may be.

It is a question to be determined by the people as a whole, and by that method alone.

Viewing the matter as I do, believing that there is more to the question than just the wet and dry issue, that there is a matter of principle involved upon which the people as a whole are entitled to express themselves, I can not honestly or conscientiously vote for the ratification of this amendment. And I again repeat that in doing so, I am not acting under the influence of any interest or interests, but without fear or favor, and solely in accordance with the dictates of my own best judgment.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

In accordance with section 1 of Article VIII of the Constitution of California, I hereby transmit to you a list of the cases of pardon, commutation and reprieve granted by me during the term of my office and by Governor Johnson during the period from January 1, 1917, to the time of his resignation. The list is as follows:

PARDONS GRANTED BY GOVERNOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON.

FRANK W. ESOLA was pardoned January 4, 1917. He was convicted in the City and County of San Francisco of grand larceny and sentenced on June 14, 1914, to serve a term of five years in Folsom. Judge F. H. Dunne of San Francisco and James F. Brennan, Assistant District Attorney, joined in a recommendation that he be pardoned. He had made a good record on parole and Warden Smith of Folsom also recommended that he should be pardoned in order that his full rights of citizenship might be restored.

N. F. STERLING was pardoned January 4, 1917. He was convicted in Mariposa County of passing a fictitious check and sentenced on May 1, 1909, to serve a term of twelve years in San Quentin. His term expired on January 1, 1917. His pardon was recommended by Superior Judge Trabucco of Mariposa County, who, as District Attorney of Mariposa County, prosecuted him, and by the Advisory Pardon Board. He had made a good record on parole.

EDWARD C. MILES was pardoned on January 4, 1917. He was convicted in the City and County of San Francisco of grand larceny and sentenced on September 1, 1914, to serve a term of five years in San Quentin. Judge Dunne, who sentenced him, the Advisory Pardon Board and Chief Justice Angellotti of the Supreme Court joined in recommending pardon.

CHARLES R. A. SWAILE was pardoned on January 5, 1917. He was convicted in San Diego County of placing an explosive near a dwelling house with intent to injure human beings and was sentenced on January 15, 1910, to serve a term of twenty years in San Quentin. He was released on parole after four years. Judge Guy of San Diego County recommended pardon on the ground that the sentence had been more severe than he would have made it had he known at the time of the sentence facts which later developed. Swaile made a good record on parole and his pardon was recommended by the Advisory Pardon Board.

C. P. WARREN was pardoned on January 26, 1917. He was convicted in Los Angeles County of obtaining money by false pretenses and sentenced on January 8, 1914, to serve four years in San Quentin. His term expired in September, 1915. Senator Henry W. Lyon stated, after a thorough investigation, that Warren was deserving of the encouragement that a pardon would give him. Judge Grant Jackson of Los Angeles County and other prominent citizens there recommended that he be pardoned.

JOHN REED was pardoned January 31, 1917. He was convicted in Los Angeles County of burglary in second degree and sentenced January 20, 1900, to serve one year at Folsom Prison. His term expired on November 20th of the same year. At that time he was but seventeen years of age. Prominent persons in San Francisco stated that Reed's conduct had been good at all times since his discharge. He was pardoned in order that he might have full rights of citizenship.

MARY L. BREWER was pardoned February 1, 1917. She was convicted in Alameda County of murder in the second degree and sentenced on March 11, 1912, to serve a term of thirteen years in San Quentin. Her sentence was commuted to a term of six years and her term of imprisonment expired on December 31, 1916. She was pardoned upon recommendation of the Advisory Pardon Board and Senator Edward J. Tyrrell.

PETER DUCY was pardoned February 23, 1917. He was convicted of murder in the second degree in the City and County of San Francisco and sentenced on September 25, 1896, to serve a life term at San Quentin. He was paroled August 1, 1911, and since that time had made a good record. It was established that the murder had been committed as a result of the drunken and irresponsible condition of the prisoner Frank R. Devlin, State Railroad Commissioner and formerly Superior Judge and also District Attorney of Solano County, made an investigation of the case and reported that the circumstances of the offense and the good character of the prisoner entitled him to clemency. His prison conduct was excellent. Many employers and citizens who came to know Ducey after his discharge joined in the recommendation for pardon.

JOHN N. MULLINS was pardoned February 26, 1917. He was convicted of murder in the first degree in Placer County and in January, 1903, sentenced to a life term in San Quentin. Hon. C. F. McLaughlin, a member of the State Board of Prison Directors, by whom, as Judge of the Superior Court of Plumas County, the sentence was imposed, recommended that Mullins was deserving of clemency on the ground that there were mitigating circumstances surrounding the crime. The State Parole Officer stated that Mullins' conduct on parole had been exemplary.

P. GIOMI, pardoned March 5, 1917. He had been convicted of robbery in Fresno County and sentenced on October 18, 1909, to serve two years in San Quentin. He was pardoned after his term expired, upon the recommendation of Judge Church and District Attorney McCormick of Fresno County.

JAMES HIGGINS, pardoned March 6, 1917. He was convicted in Alameda County of violation of section 113 of the Penal Code, and sentenced in January, 1915, to serve six years in San Quentin. He was paroled December 18, 1916. He was pardoned upon recommendation of Judge Ogden, District Attorney Hynes and Sheriff Frank Barnett of Alameda County. His conduct upon parole had been exemplary.

RAFAEL VELARDE, pardoned March 6, 1917. He had been convicted of murder in the second degree in San Diego County, and sentenced September 23, 1903, to serve a life sentence at San Quentin. At time of commutation Kelly had served six months in state prison. INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Introduction and Reading of Bills.

30 Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in place and address the Speaker, and upon being recognized shall present the same. It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading, whether it is the first, second or third reading. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

31 Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills, provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee; and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the Constitution. Proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be treated the same as bills, provided, they shall be read but once, and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills

32 In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" of "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. After these two roll calls, bills, constitutional amendments, joint or concurrent resolutions shall be introduced by members on recognition of the Speaker, as provided by the rules of the Assembly, and all bills, constitutional amendments or joint or concurrent resolutions introduced before the standing committees of the Assembly are appointed, shall be referred to committees, references to take effect when the committees shall be appointed.

Introduction of Bills by Committee

33 Any committee may introduce a bill appertaining to any subject coming within its consideration, whereupon it shall be read the first time and placed upon the proper second-reading file. When such bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, read, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

34 Immediately upon convening after the constitutional recess the Speaker shall appoint a standing committee on Introduction of Bills, to consist of three members. All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing, under the order of "Introduction of Bills," and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill. The author of any bill shall have not more than ten minutes within which to speak to the question of the introduction of his bill and the Committee on Introduction of Bills may have the same time for reply.

REFERENCE TO COMMITTEES

Reference of Bills.

35. At the time of introduction the Speaker shall first indicate to what committee a bill or resolution ought to be referred, and it shall be so referred, unless upon a motion, without debate, the Assembly by a majority vote refer it to some other committee. A motion to re-refer a bill shall be debatable as to the propriety of such re-reference.

36. When a motion is made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

- The Committee of the Whole House
- A Standing Committee.
- A Select Committee.

Reference of Senate Bills.

38. When a Senate bill has been received by the House with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate, such bill shall be referred to a standing committee, provided, however, that when a Senate bill is received the provisions of which are stated by a member to be identical with those of an Assembly bill which has already been considered and reported by a committee of the Assembly, such Senate bill shall be referred to the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment for comparison, which committee shall report on the next legislative day whether or not said bill is identical with the Assembly bill, and if reported identical, shall be read the second time, be substituted for the Assembly bill (the latter being considered withdrawn), shall take the latter's place on the Assembly file, and be considered as having received the same recommendation of the Assembly committee; provided, that the fact that the bills are identical shall be entered in the Journal.

Bills to Be Reported Back to Committees

39. All committees shall act upon bills, constitutional amendments and resolutions referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule, provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill, constitutional amendment or resolution from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

Order of Making File.

40. Upon the introduction of bills they shall be read the first time, and referred to committees as provided in Rule 30. When reported back they shall be placed upon the General File, to be kept by the Clerk, as follows: All bills when reported to the House by the committees, except such bills as are by the report re-referred to another committee, shall be placed at the foot of the second-reading file, in the order in which the reports are made, and after the second reading they shall be placed at the foot of the third-reading file, in the order of reading, and precedence shall be given in the consideration of bills in the following order: Second-reading file and third-reading file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote of the House. The bills upon third reading shall be considered in the order in which they appear upon the file, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent or by vote of majority of the members present, such vote to be taken by roll call, provided, that if a bill is passed on file for any reason, other than the absence of the author by leave of the Assembly, note of the fact shall be made in the General File, and when passed on file a second time the bill shall be ordered to the foot of the file, and notice of the fact of the bill having been passed on file prior to the order placing it at the foot of the file shall be omitted from the General File. The Clerk shall post, in a conspicuous place in the Chamber, a daily statement of the bills on the General File, setting forth the order in which they were filed, and specifying the alterations arising from the disposal of business each day.

41. The Clerk shall, from time to time, make up a file, to be known as the Special File, on which he shall place bills relating to appropriations for the support of the state government and state institutions, revenue election laws and constitutional amendments, in the order named, and in the order in which the same may be reported to the Assembly, and he shall place no other bills thereon, nor shall any bill on the General File be substituted for any bill thereon.

Ordering Bills to Third Reading.

42. After being read the second time bills shall be ordered by the Speaker to third reading (or, in the case of Assembly bills, to engrossment and third reading). When any member makes objection to any bill thus being ordered to third reading, the final question for such bill shall be, "Shall the bill be ordered to third reading?"

Bills Considered During Last Seven Days.

43. No Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill be granted by a three-fourths vote of the Assembly after being recommended by the Speaker of the Assembly.

If the point of order be sustained by the Chair the member shall not be allowed to proceed, but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. EXPLANATIONS OF VOTES

The following explanations of votes were received and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Wickham:

In voting against Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 6, I feel that inasmuch as it was heretofore customary to hold a session of about thirty days, that I had advised many of my constituents that the session would be continued for about thirty days. Therefore, in order that the people of my district might have the time which they believed they would have, I have voted against the resolution to adjourn on January 24th.

GEORGE R. WICKHAM

By Mr. Baker:

In explanation of my vote on Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 6 beg to state that it is understood by my constituents that the first session of the Legislature covered a period of thirty days, during which time opportunity is given them to confer with me on legislative business. Therefore, I did not feel an early adjournment was fair to them

Section 19. (a) The ballots cast at any given precinct shall not be counted at the polling place, but as soon as the polls are closed, the precinct election officers shall not open the ballot box except as may be necessary to close the mouth of the box, and see that the ballot box is correctly locked again without any ballot being removed or added and seal the same and separately seal the key in the manner provided by printed instructions from the registrar of voters, and as soon as said election officers have certified, signed and sealed the other packages or envelopes as required by law, such ballot box and key and packages shall be sent by not less than two of said precinct election officers to the office of the registrar of voters and there delivered to the registrar, and until so delivered it shall be unlawful for such officers so conveying the same to allow any other person or persons to have possession of said ballot box or key or packages. Such officers shall proceed as continuously as possible to the office of the registrar of voters. Immediately upon the delivery of such ballot box to the registrar of voters or his deputy, said registrar shall cause each such box to be plainly labeled with the correct number of the precinct in which such ballots were cast. The registrar of voters shall in such manner as he shall deem best calculated to provide competent persons, select and provide as many persons as he may deem necessary for the counting, tallying and certifying of returns of the vote cast in each precinct, and such persons shall have the qualifications required for election officers at State elections, save that all persons who are employed in the department of elections, or who report for service from the civil service of the city and county, shall, if not a candidate at such election, be qualified, save that none of the persons so selected need reside in a particular precinct. The persons so selected and provided shall be segregated by the registrar of voters or his deputies into counting boards respectively to consist of three persons each, and each such selected counting board shall proceed to count and tally such ballots by precincts separately under the direction of the registrar of voters or his deputies or such superintendents as the registrar of voters may direct, in the same manner provided by law for counting, tallying and certifying ballots at State elections except as herein otherwise provided. The form of tally sheets shall be provided and determined by the registrar of voters, and there shall be a certificate at the end thereof to the effect that the foregoing is the correct result of the election in such precinct, and such certificate shall be signed by the three persons who completed such tally list and return. The registrar of voters or any deputy empowered by him by writing may excuse or dismiss any person from any such counting board at pleasure and enforce such order and substitute any person so provided by the registrar of voters in the place of any person so excused, dismissed, or who absents himself from said counting board. Any person acting on any such counting board who shall refuse to obey any lawful order of the registrar or his deputy shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The tally sheets shall be in duplicate, kept by two clerks, and one copy upon the completion thereof shall be sealed and signed across the flap in the manner provided by the laws of the State of California for sealing tally lists where votes are counted at the precinct, and the other tally list shall remain open for inspection in the office of the registrar of voters. The returns so sealed shall be securely kept by the registrar until produced before the board of election commissioners for official canvass in the manner provided by law.

The registrar of voters shall fix the compensation to be paid to each member of such respective counting boards for counting, tallying, completing and certifying such votes and returns, which compensation shall not exceed five cents to each member of such board respectively for each ballot so counted, tallied, completed and certified and such claims and demands when certified by the registrar or his deputy and presented to the board of election commissioners shall be allowed in open session, and the auditor shall audit and the treasurer pay such claims out of the general fund. Except as herein otherwise provided, the provisions of the laws of the State of California applicable to State elections or State election officers, and such laws relating to the official canvass and declaration of the result of State election returns shall apply to the counting, tallying, certifying, sealing, custody and official canvass of the ballots and returns counted and returned under the provisions of this chapter. If there shall not be room enough in the department of elections for the counting of said votes the registrar of voters may cause such counting to proceed in any place under the control of the city and county which may be obtained by him for such purpose, provided, that a notice of the location of such place be conspicuously displayed in the department of elections. Said votes shall be counted in a place open to the public and the boards counting the same shall enter the total number thereof on the tally sheets provided therefor. They then shall count and enter the number of the first, second and third choice votes for each candidate on said tally sheet and make returns thereof to the board of election commissioners as herein required. The canvass must be public, in the presence of bystanders and must be continuous, without adjournment, until completed and the result thereof is declared. Any candidate shall be entitled to a representative among the bystanders.

The provisions of this chapter relating to counting the ballots shall not apply to a special municipal election at which a proposition or propositions, or question or questions, only is, or are, voted upon; but the ballots at all such special elections shall be counted at the respective polling places and returned by the precinct election boards under the laws applicable to such elections.

(b) If a ballot contain more than one vote for the same candidate, only the one of such votes highest in rank shall be counted. If a ballot contain either first or second or third choice votes for any office in excess of the number of places to be filled for such office no vote for that office in the column showing such excess shall be counted.

(c) Paragraph (b) of this section shall be printed conspicuously on the tally sheet.

(d) Candidates receiving a majority of the first choice votes for any office shall be elected. If the full number of candidates to be elected do not receive such a majority of the first choice votes for such office, a canvass shall then be made of the second choice votes received by those candidates for said office who are not elected by first choice votes; said second choice votes shall be added to the first choice votes received by such candidates and candidates who by such addition shall receive a majority shall be elected.

(e) If by the count of either first choice votes or first and second choice votes, as above provided, more candidates than there are offices to be filled shall receive a majority, the candidate or candidates equal in number to the number of offices to be filled having the highest vote shall be elected.

(f) If the full number of candidates to be elected do not receive a majority by adding first and second choice votes, as above directed, a canvass shall then be made of the third choice votes received by those candidates for said office who are not elected, either by first choice votes or by adding first and second choice votes. Said third choice votes shall be added to the first and second choice votes received by such candidates, and the candidates, equal in number to the number of offices remaining to be filled, who receive the highest number of votes by said addition shall be elected.

(g) The above subdivisions (d), (e) and (f) shall be applied and carried out in the making of the official canvass and the declaration of the official result.

III. The final cost of said aquarium not to exceed to my estate the sum of said $250,000 aforementioned, to be certified to by the original officials of said academy of sciences and the architect selected for the construction of said aquarium

IV The management, superintendence and operation of said aquarium to be in charge and under the direction of said academy of sciences; and I expect that the necessary funds for the maintenance and operation of said aquarium will be furnished by the city of San Francisco for the benefit of the inhabitants thereof or others, who may enjoy said aquarium or derive knowledge and information therefrom

In case, however, during my lifetime an aquarium should have been erected and exist, in said Golden Gate Park, then said bequest of $250,000 is to be null and void and hereby cancelled.

And in lieu thereof, I hereby give, devise and bequeath to said academy of sciences the sum of ($150,000) one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, for the enlargement and extension of the aquarium then existing. I would suggest that a terrarium and exhibit of insects be installed in said enlarged aquarium. Location plans and specifications for the latter, are likewise to be approved by my executors, and conditions and clauses I to IV heretofore mentioned, should as far as feasible and practical apply to said bequest of $150,000 for said enlargement and extension of said aquarium."

Relative to endorsement of the amendment to the national constitution known as the "Federal Suffrage Amendment."

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California by joint resolution at its last session urged upon the Congress of the United States the passage of the amendment to the national constitution known as the "Federal Suffrage Amendment," as a matter of justice to the women of our nation who have labored and sacrificed side by side with the men in the world struggle for liberty and democracy; and

WHEREAS, Said federal suffrage amendment has been passed by the House of Representatives and now awaits the action of the Senate; be it therefore

Resolved, That, profoundly appreciative of the dignity and ability with which the women of this State have used their right to the ballot, and so more than ever cognizant that sex discrimination in the granting of the franchise has no place in modern civilization, and realizing as never before how entirely the welfare of our nation depends upon the material, moral and spiritual activities of its men and women alike, the Legislature of the State of California urges upon the Senate of the United States at once to pass the Federal Suffrage Amendment, that it may be submitted to the legislatures of the various states, to the end that before the next presidential election the nation's women may enter upon the rights and duties of the franchise on the same basis as its men.

The Secretary of the Senate is hereby instructed to telegraph copies of this resolution to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the United States Senators from California at Washington forthwith

COMMUNICATIONS.

On motion of Mr. Polsley, the following communications were received and ordered printed in the Journal:

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 22, 1919.

Hon. State Board of Control, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

GENTLEMEN: In answer to your inquiry as to whether Sutter Basin Company will agree to the surrender of a sufficient number of its warrants issued to it by the State Reclamation Board, or Sacramento and San Joaquin Drainage District, for Sutter-Butte by-pass assessment No. 6, and the taking of later warrants therefor, so as to enable your board, or other State boards, in case they purchase warrants, in conformity with a bill now pending in the Legislature, to have priority of registration and payment over the warrants of Sutter Basin Company, we would say that the Sutter Basin Company does so agree.

We are signing this communication as attorneys for the company. We will have the same ratified by the president or manager, if desired.

Very truly yours,

DEVLIN & DEVLIN.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, January 22, 1919.

Hon. T. M. Wright, Chairman Ways and Means Committee, the Assembly, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

MY DEAR SIR: Complying to a request of several members of your committee last night, we are writing you concerning the attitude of the State Board of Control in the matter of the purchase by the State of $300,000 worth of Sutter by-pass warrants. We have been advised that these warrants are a safe investment for State funds.

We face the possibility of delay in their being paid with a consciousness that the interest will relieve the State of any burden caused by carrying them.

We are advised that though legal complications may arise, the act under which the work has been conducted so far and the magnitude of the entire project will make them inevitably good.

We believe that the amount of money already invested at the direction of the State, as indicated by former legislation, justifies the State making this loan at this time.

We believe this to be an emergency, as we are advised by competent engineering authorities that it will be necessary to complete this east side levee at once in order to prevent damage to work already performed and to property and lives of citizens in the district liable to be affected, and that it is not only possible to do this but imperative that it be done now.

The Board of Control therefore recommends this measure to the favorable consideration of the Legislature.

Very truly yours,

MARSHALL DE MOTTE, Chairman

I am also opposed to giving the Board of Control the large contractual powers carried by this bill.

MR. SPEAKER Word has just been received of the death in this city of Judge W. A. Rennie, one of the best known newspapermen of this State. Judge Rennie was a man whom I have known for many years, and whom I am proud to have called my friend. He had long been a resident of the district which I now represent.

This Assembly has known Judge Rennie for some time, for during the last session of the Legislature he was a faithful and efficient officer of this Assembly, and this year was an able officer of the Senate of this forty-third session of the Legislature.

Judge Rennie was the proprietor of the "Evening Vanguard," published at Venice, California, which paper under his direction, has grown and prospered since he acquired ownership. He had also been, and was at the time of his decease, first vice president of the Southern California Editorial Association.

During the past eight years Judge Rennie had ably served the people of Venice Township, Los Angeles County, as their Justice of the Peace, retiring last fall to further devote his time to managing his newspaper.

He was a member of the Order of Eagles and a member of the Santa Monica Lodge of the Order of Elks.

It is with profound sorrow that I arise to announce the passing of my friend, Judge W. A. Rennie

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Baker:

To the Legislature of California

The following resolution was passed by the San Francisco Bay Cities Fish Committee, in session Tuesday, January 21, 1919, City Hall of Oakland:

WHEREAS, The high cost of living is our greatest domestic problem today, and
 WHEREAS, This committee is of the belief that it is just as necessary to provide the means for proper distribution of food as it is to provide for education, health, transportation, etc.; and

WHEREAS, All relief for the high cost of living bears on the great question of distribution; and

WHEREAS, This committee believes that an adequate system of State markets will materially reduce the cost of living and benefit both producer and consumer, and

WHEREAS, It is the firm opinion of this committee that the present market law, authorizing the Market Director to organize so-called co-operative associations, is unjust to the great mass of consumers of this State, and, be it, therefore,

Resolved, That this committee, representing the citizens of the San Francisco bay cities, appeal to this Legislature to right the great wrong being done, and that remedial legislation be enacted

W. H. EDWARDS, Chairman.

The San Francisco Bay Cities Food and Fish Committee

Hon. Greene Majors, Mayor of Alameda; Hon. W. L. Lane, Mayor of Richmond; J. G. Ogborn, Councilman, Richmond; Frank D. Stingham, Berkeley; Jos. F. Campe, Chamber of Commerce, Oakland; J. C. Downey, Merchants Exchange, Oakland; Mrs. Jos. Hamilton, Supervisor Municipal War Market; W. N. Jenkins, Oakland; Mrs. A. E. Stone, Oakland.

By MRS. W. T. CLEVERDON, Secretary.

Also:

WHEREAS, The intent and purpose of the State Fish Exchange Act, passed by the Legislature of 1917, was intended to reduce the price of food fish, thereby increasing the consumption of fish; and

WHEREAS, It is a fact that the reverse is true and that the price of all fish, even the most plentiful varieties, has steadily increased under the administration and manipulation of the Market Director, and

WHEREAS, The cities of San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Richmond, in the interests of the people of these cities, protested the extortionate and prohibitive prices charged at a time when the Nation was at war and when it was necessary to conserve the meats for our soldiers and allies; and

WHEREAS, The Market Director was appealed to numerous times by this committee for relief and failed to give relief, and, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the interests of the people of the State, we appeal to the Legislature to repeal the State Fish Exchange Act, as from all the evidence we have secured the only persons to benefit by a further continuation of the present condition are those wholesale fishermen who have always controlled and reaped profits at the expense of the people.

This committee also wishes to state that it has conducted many investigations and has now in its possession evidence showing the utter inefficiency, to say the least, of the department known as the State Fish Exchange, and would welcome the opportunity to present the same to the State Legislature

Signed W. H. EDWARDS, Chairman.

Bay Cities Fish Committee.

By MRS. W. T. CLEVERDON, Secretary

Also:

Resolved, That the Bay Cities Food and Fish Committee asks for a legislative investigation of the activities of the Market Director and his office

The law under which the Market Director holds office distinctly states that he shall not engage in other business while he is Market Director.

Signed W. H. EDWARDS, Chairman.

RESOLUTIONS—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Carter:

WHEREAS, The Motor Vehicle Department of this State was created for the purpose of securing revenue for use of State and county highways, and it is highly essential that the same should be conducted with the greatest economy, consistent with effective service; and

WHEREAS, The net operating expenses of said department for the calendar year, commencing January 1, 1918, to December 31, 1918, was $546,306.35 for the collection of $4,291,052.53—a cost of twelve and seven-tenths per cent on each dollar collected; and

WHEREAS, By comparison of the cost of collection of revenue in other departments, viz over three million dollars inheritance taxes at a cost of three and one-tenth cents on the dollar, and the franchise tax, at a cost of a little over one-half a cent on the dollar, there seems reason to believe that there is a large waste of funds in the operation of the Motor Vehicle Department; be it therefore

Resolved by the Assembly, That his excellency Governor William D. Stephens be respectfully requested to cause an investigation to be made of the operating expenses of the Motor Vehicle Department to ascertain if the operating expenses can not be reduced, and report the result of such investigation not later than April 1, 1919; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the Governor.

25. When a Senate bill has been received by the Assembly or an Assembly bill by the Senate, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate or Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time by the Secretary or the Chief Clerk and referred to a standing committee by the presiding officer, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

After a Bill Has Been Passed by the Senate or Assembly.

26. When a bill (if it be a Senate bill) has been received from the Senate by the Assembly, after its passage, or (if it be an Assembly bill) has been received from the Assembly by the Senate after its passage, it shall be taken up by the Senate or Assembly, as the case may be, under the regular order of business ("Senate messages" or "Assembly messages"), read the first time, unless otherwise ordered by the House, and shall then be assigned to the proper committee, unless otherwise ordered, who shall act upon the same as soon as practicable, and report the same back to the Senate or Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with observance of this rule, provided, that the Senate or Assembly may, at any time, order such bill reported back from any committee by a majority vote of all the members of the House in which the action is taken.

27. On the second day after the close of the recess provided for in section 2, Article IV, of the Constitution, the Senate and Assembly shall each adopt and provide a special file upon which shall be placed. In the Senate, only Assembly bills that have passed the Assembly, and in the Assembly, only Senate bills that have passed the Senate. Such special file shall be taken up at two o'clock p.m. of each day, and be considered at least one hour and a half after being so taken up unless its consideration shall be completed in a lesser period of time. This rule shall not be suspended in either House except by a three-fourths vote of such House.

Passage of Urgency Provisions in Bills.

34. Upon the third reading of an act which is an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the State Constitution, the presiding officer shall direct that the section of said act setting forth the facts constituting the necessity for such urgency (which shall be known as the urgency section) be then read and put to vote. The question shall be thus stated, "Shall this section setting forth the urgency features of this bill be passed?" If upon such final vote two-thirds of all the members elected to the House in which the vote is being taken shall not vote in the affirmative, no further action shall be taken on the bill; but, in case an identical bill without such an emergency clause be again introduced into such House, such bill shall be placed on file without reference to any committee.

Passage of Bills Preceding Final Adjournment.

35 No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate and no Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment (sine die) of the two Houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill shall be granted by a three-fourths vote of the House of its origin after being recommended by the presiding officer thereof.

Enrollment of Bill After Passage.

36. After a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled after being carefully compared, by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and Committee of the House in which it originated, with the engrossed bill as passed in the two Houses. It shall then receive the signatures provided for in Joint Rule 37, and be presented to the Governor of the State.

Enrolling Committee to Present Bills to Governor.

37. After a bill shall have been thus passed in each House, it shall be presented by the Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the House in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first endorsed by the presiding officers of the two Houses, and by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the House in which the bill originated.

AMENDMENTS AND CONFERENCES.

38. Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one House shall be amended in the other, it shall immediately be reprinted as amended by the House making such amendment or amendments. Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and endorsed "adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the House in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be endorsed "concurred in," and such endorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be; provided, however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the House in which such bill originated.

To Concur or Refuse To Concur in Amendments.

39. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

When Senate or Assembly Refuse to Concur.

40 If the Senate refuse to concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly refuse to concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments of such refusal, and ask that they recede from their amendments. If they refuse to recede, the presiding officer shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference, and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other House of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each House shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each House of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the Conference Committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the House, and the chairmen thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

Committee on Conference.

41 In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House and dis-sented from in the other, if either House shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other House shall appoint a like committee; and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the respective chairmen of the committees.

Committee on Free Conference.

42. If the conference fail to agree or either House refuse to adopt the report of the committee, a Committee on Free Conference shall then be appointed which shall consist of three members from each House to be constituted and appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference. The Committee on Free Conference is hereby directed to include in its report any amendments which it may adopt as a committee, and such amendments shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either House refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of a Committee on Free Conference on the same bill.

When Conference Committee Report Is In Order.

43. The presentation of the report of a committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

44. The Committee on Joint Rules shall be empowered to compile a list of suggestions as to the form of bills and resolutions prepared for introduction into the Legislature.

45. A person desiring recognition by the Senate or Assembly as a newspaper correspondent shall make application in writing to the President of the Senate or Speaker of the Assembly.

(a) The applicant shall state in writing the name of the newspaper or newspapers he represents, and that he is not engaged, and will not become engaged as a lobbyist for any person, co-partnership, corporation or interest and that he is not and will not become the agent or representative of any person, co-partnership, organization or corporation in advocating or attempting to defeat any measure pending in either branch of the Legislature; that he is not employed in any executive, administrative or legislative department of the State government and will not become so employed while accepting the privileges of a press representative.

The press room shall be under the control of the Superintendent of Capitol Building and Grounds; provided, that all rules and regulations shall be approved by the President of the Senate and Speaker of the Assembly.

46. Adjournment for the constitutional recess and adjournment sine die shall be made only by concurrent resolution; and the resolution for adjournment sine die shall be passed by both Houses at least twenty-eight days before the date of such adjournment.

Joint Address to Governor.

47. When the Senate and Assembly shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the Governor, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate in the presence of the Speaker of the Assembly and a select committee of six members from each House appointed by the respective presiding officers.

Dispensing With Joint Rules.

48. No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each House; and Joint Rules 27 and 35 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said joint rules. If either House shall violate a joint rule a question of order may be raised in the other House and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such House; and if it shall be decided that the joint rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the House in which it originated, without further action. PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

The following petition was presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Brooks:

To the Members of the State Legislature of California:

The Bay Cities Food and Fish Committee, in regular session in Oakland, on the 21st day of January, 1919, hereby send greeting to the members of the State Legislature of California, now in session at Sacramento and challenge your serious interest and attention to the fact, that the overwhelming, paramount question before the great mass of the people at all times is that of food, especially its price.

Vast numbers of laws, costing the people to enact and administer, enormous taxes are enacted session after session of the Legislature—but all the time leaving the major question of the price of food and the cost of living untouched. Like the babbling brook, legislation goes on forever, but never efficient results from the burden of profiteering.

This committee believes it is high time for our State Legislature to get busy on some drastic, proper legislation for the common man, the plain citizen that does not plan for himself, but who is the inevitable victim of all plots, combinations and schemes in food exploitations and they are common in all departments of life's essential and every day sustenance.

Gentlemen of the Legislature, the price of fish, right here where the boatman's song can be heard while his seines draw countless tons of the best fish in the world from the Pacific's bosom, is organized robbery—confiscation of the poor man's hard earnings and large families' small board. It is an outrage on decency and justice that has been permitted to wrong for years, not only our east bay cities, but all cities and communities throughout the West.

Gentlemen, we appeal to you as California's strong men, brainy enough and brave enough to correct this crime against the people, of cruelly high prices, not only for fish, but we entreat you to go down the line and over the top until every profiteering Hun (all profiteers are commercial Huns) in this State cries "Kamerad" with fair prices resulting to the masses.

(Signed)

W. H. Edwards, Chairman, Oakland; Hon. Greene Majors, Mayor of Alameda; Hon. W. L. Lane, Mayor of Richmond; J. G. Osborne, Council, Richmond; Jos. F. Caine, Chamber of Commerce; Frank D. Stringham, Berkeley; J. C. Downey, Merchants Exchange; Mrs. Jas. Hamilton, Supervisor Municipal War Market, Oakland; W. N. Jenkins, Oakland; Miss A. E. Stone, Oakland; Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, Berkeley.

By MRS. W. T. CLEVERDON,
Secretary Bay Cities Fish Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 23, 1919.

3. Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairmen of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Scope of Word "Bill."

4. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these rules it shall include constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions.

5. Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the federal government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both Houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

Resolutions Treated as Bills.

6. Joint resolutions, concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that they shall be read but one time in each House, and that they shall not be deemed bills within the meaning of section 2 of article IV of the constitution and shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction. As in the case of bills, they shall be engrossed in the House in which they originate before being voted upon.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Title of Bill.

7. The title of every bill introduced shall convey an accurate idea of the contents of the bill and shall be indicative of the scope of the act and the object to be accomplished. In amending a code section, the mere reference to the section by number shall not be deemed sufficient.

Division of Bill Into Sections.

8. Bills amending more than one section of existing laws shall contain a separate section for each section amended.

Bills which are not amendatory of existing laws shall be divided into short sections, where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section, to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.

Changes From Existing Laws to Be Marked by Author.

9. In case of a bill amending a code section, or general law, all omissions must be shown by the insertion of heavy parentheses or brackets without including the omitted matter, all additions must be shown by underlining the new matter. When printed, the new matter so underlined shall be enclosed in heavy brackets in the printed bill and also heavy brackets shall be retained to show omissions.

Committee on Revision and Printing to Examine Bills When Introduced.

10. Unless otherwise ordered by the House in which the bill was introduced, all bills before being printed shall be immediately sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing, which shall examine the bill, with the aid of the Legislative Counsel Bureau. The committee, by and with the written assent of the author filed with it, shall have authority to correct any clerical error such as in orthography, adding or correcting the enacting clause, mistakes in numbering sections and references thereto, errors in grammar, phraseology, or in the form of the bill, provided, that no bill which bears the stamp of the Legislative Counsel Bureau showing that before introduction it has been examined as to form, shall be sent to the Committee on Revision and Printing.

NOTE.—The submission of bill copy to Legislative Counsel Bureau for approval of form before introduction will expedite its course.

Bills Introduced to Indicate Changes in Existing Laws

11. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall see to it that Rules 7 and 9 of these Joint Rules are observed by the author, and that the bill shall not be sent to the printer until the provisions of these rules have been carried out.

Reports of Committee on Revision and Printing.

12. The Committee on Revision and Printing shall return to the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly all bills in the order in which they were sent to it, but shall not retain any bill for longer than three legislative days, unless otherwise ordered.

Endorsement of Date of Introduction.

13. Bills introduced in either House shall be endorsed with the date of introduction.

PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF BILLS.

Manner of Printing Bills, Etc

14. The State Printer shall observe the following directions in printing all bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions:

(a) The body of such bills and resolutions shall be printed in solid unspaced form so that the same type shall be used both before and after enrollment.

(b) All titles of bills, resolutions, etc., shall be set in italics, statute form, and the length of the lines used in the bills shall not exceed that of the body of the bill.

(c) The lines of all printed bills shall be numbered by page and not by sections, and amendments shall be identified by reference to title, page and line only, provided, however, that concurrent resolutions approving city or county or city and county charters or amendments thereto may be set in smaller type and without line numbers.

(d) Enrolled bills may be enclosed in stock cover.

Printing of Amendments

15. All bills amended by either House shall be immediately reprinted: in the case new matter is added by the amendments, such new matter shall be enclosed in heavy parentheses in the printed bill, and in the case of matter being omitted, the omission shall also be indicated by heavy parentheses. When a bill is amended in either House, the first or previous markings, except that showing change from code provision or former law, shall be omitted. When a bill amendatory of a code section is engrossed, all figures or symbols shall be removed.

Distribution of Bills During Constitutional Recess.

16. All requests for mailing or distribution by the members shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the Assembly not later than the end of the second week of the first part of the session, the same to be immediately referred to the Committee on Revision and Printing; this list shall be compiled, with the elimination of duplication, as a general public mailing list. The distribution of bills, constitutional amendments, joint and concurrent resolutions shall be systematized as follows: Members' desks and legislative officers' files 150 full sets; to authors 50 copies of their own bills; accredited newspaper representatives 25, to public and law libraries, newspapers, county officials, and other civic, commercial, fraternal or industrial organizations as the joint printing committees may compile from the recommendations of the members of both houses, 1,200 copies; to State officers, State Library and Secretary of State, 200 copies, to legislative committees, bill room files and public requests—confined to single copies of bills designated, 1,000 copies. The State Printer shall cause to be printed in the standard form adopted by the Senate and the Assembly as many copies of all bills, constitutional amendments and joint or concurrent resolutions as may be necessary to conform to the provisions of this rule.

A similar number and distribution shall be made of the Semifinal History and Final Calendar.

Distribution of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

17. Following the recess, new bills introduced shall be forwarded to the public libraries and law libraries only, and one copy each of amended bills as may be requested. Weekly Histories and Journals shall be distributed generally, following the recess, upon such schedule as the joint printing committees may designate.

OTHER LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

19 The following shall always be printed in the Journal of each House

Immediately following the adjournment for the constitutional recess the history shall be compiled and printed to date of recess.

REPORTS FROM ONE HOUSE TO THE OTHER AS TO ACTION ON BILL.

Bill or Resolution in One House, Rejected in the Other, Requires Notice.

28. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one House is rejected by the other, notice thereof shall be given immediately to the House in which the same shall have passed.

Each House to Transmit Papers.

29. Each House shall transmit to the other papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

Notice to Be in Writing Under Proper Signatures.

30. Notice of the action of either House to the other shall be in writing, and under the signature of the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the House from which such notice is to be conveyed.

Secretary, Chief Clerk, Etc., to Dispatch Messages.

31. Messages shall be sent to the other House by an officer or attache to be designated by the Secretary, if it be a Senate message, or by the Chief Clerk, if it is an Assembly message.

Messages Must Be Announced by the Sergeant-at-Arms.

32. When a message shall be sent from either House it shall be announced at the door by the Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the presiding officer by the person by whom it may be sent.

PASSAGE AND ENROLLING OF BILLS.

Passage of Bills Taking Effect Immediately.

33. Each House shall act in the usual course upon all bills that may be made to take effect immediately, under the provisions of section 1, article IV, of the constitution.

Passage of Urgency Provisions in Bills.

34. Upon the third reading of an act which is an urgency measure within the meaning of section 1, article IV of the State constitution, the presiding officer shall direct that the section of said act setting forth the facts constituting the necessity for such urgency (which shall be known as the urgency section) be then read and put to vote. The question shall be thus stated: "Shall this section setting forth the urgency features of this bill be passed?" If upon such final vote two-thirds of all the members elected to the House in which the vote is being taken shall not vote in the affirmative, no further action shall be taken on the bill, but, in case an identical bill without such an emergency clause be again introduced into such House, such bill shall be placed on file without reference to any committee.

Passage of Bills Preceding Final Adjournment.

35. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate and no Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within seven days of the time set for adjournment (sine die) of the two Houses of the Legislature, unless permission to vote on such bill shall be granted by a three-fourths vote of the House of its origin after being recommended by the presiding officer thereof.

Enrollment of Bill After Passage.

36 After a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled after being carefully compared by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and Committee of the House in which it originated, with the engrossed bill as passed in the two Houses. It shall then receive the signatures provided for in Joint Rule 37, and be presented to the Governor of the State.

Enrolling Committee to Present Bills to Governor.

37. After a bill shall have been thus passed in each House, it shall be presented by the Engrossing and Enrolling Committee of the House in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first endorsed by the presiding officers of the two Houses, and by the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly). The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the House in which the bill originated.

AMENDMENTS AND CONFERENCES.Amendments to Amended Bills Must Be Attached.

38. Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one House shall be amended in the other, it shall immediately be reprinted as amended by the House making such amendment or amendments. Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and endorsed "adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the House in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be endorsed "concurred in," and such endorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be, provided, however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the House in which such bill originated.

To Concur or Refuse to Concur in Amendments.

39. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

When Senate or Assembly Refuse to Concur.

40. If the Senate refuse to concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly refuse to concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall notify the House making the amendments of such refusal, and ask that they recede from their amendments. If they refuse to recede, the presiding officer shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference, and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other House of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each House shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each House of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the Conference Committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the House, and the chairmen thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

Committee on Conference.

41. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House and dissented from in the other, if either House shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other House shall appoint a like committee; and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the respective chairmen of the committees.

Committee on Free Conference

42. If the conference fail to agree or either House refuse to adopt the report of the committee, a Committee on Free Conference shall then be appointed which shall consist of three members from each House to be constituted and appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference. The Committee on Free Conference is hereby directed to include in its report any amendments which it may adopt as a committee, and such amendments shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either House refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of a Committee on Free Conference on the same bill.

When Conference Committee Report Is in Order.

43. The presentation of the report of a committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

46. Adjournment for the constitutional recess and adjournment sine die shall be made only by concurrent resolution, and the resolution for adjournment sine die shall be passed by both Houses at least twenty-eight days before the date of such adjournment.

Joint Address to Governor.

47. When the Senate and Assembly shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the Governor, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate in the presence of the Speaker of the Assembly and a select committee of six members from each House appointed by the respective presiding officers.

Dispensing With Joint Rules.

48. No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each House, and Joint Rules 27 and 35 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said joint rules. If either House shall violate a joint rule a question of order may be raised in the other House and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such House; and if it shall be decided that the joint rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the House in which it originated, without further action. Or, at the option of such House, the President or Speaker may direct the Secretary or the Chief Clerk to mark the section or sections in conflict with the rules as nonconcurring in or negating.

Resolution ordered transmitted to the Senate.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 5.

Relative to the retirement on annuities of men and women in the employment of the United States who are over the age of sixty-eight years.

WHEREAS, Retirement on annuities has for many years been a vital issue with all organizations of federal civil service employees, for the reason that a large number of men and women over sixty-eight years of age have served the United States for a lifetime at such comparatively low wages that it has been impossible for them to accumulate a sum of money sufficient to enable them to voluntarily retire; and

WHEREAS, These men and women know that either demotion or dismissal awaits them if a retirement bill is not passed by the Congress, as the efficiency of employers rapidly declines after the age of sixty-eight years; and

WHEREAS, The United States Civil Service Commission, in its last annual report, strongly recommended a system of retirement, as follows:

"It is too costly to continue the aged and infirm in positions requiring alertness and vigor, and a retirement system is possible which would be alike in the interest of the government and the worker.

"While inefficiency is a just cause for removal, appointing officers naturally hesitate to dismiss old employees who have become incapacitated after rendering long and efficient service, and a virtual pension system thus exists.

"A retirement system would give stability to the service, create an inducement for capable men to continue in it, contribute to improve administrative methods, and make possible a standardization of salaries and other needed reforms"; and

WHEREAS, There is now before the Congress a bill known as the McKellar-Keating bill, which has for its object the retirement on annuities of all superannuated and disabled civil service employees of the United States, at a cost to be borne equally by the government and the employees; and

WHEREAS, The McKellar-Keating bill, which is known in the Senate as S. 4637 and in the House of Representatives as H. R. 12352, has received the unanimous indorsement of all organizations of federal civil employees as being the most comprehensive and satisfactory retirement bill that has been submitted to the Congress for its consideration; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California declares itself to be in full sympathy and accord with the McKellar-Keating bill, known in the Senate as S. 4637 and in the House of Representatives as H. R. 12352; and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be and they are hereby requested to use all honorable means to secure the passage of said act, and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Senate be and he hereby is directed to forward copies of this resolution to the President of the Senate of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to each of California's Senators and Representatives in Congress.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER SIXTEEN—(OUT OF ORDER).

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 16

Relative to the restoration of certain officers, soldiers, sailors and marines to the pension roll of the United States

WHEREAS, A number of officers, soldiers, sailors and marines, who have heretofore been honorably discharged from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps of the United States of America, and who were placed upon the pension roll of the United States by reason of injuries or sickness incurred in the line of duty; and

WHEREAS, In order again to enter the service of our country in the war against Germany in the cause of liberty and democracy voluntarily relinquished their rights to said pensions; and

WHEREAS, Such officers, soldiers, sailors and marines have been or are being discharged from the military service of the government and should be restored to the pension roll under their former status; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to introduce and secure the passage of appropriate legislation to carry into effect the principles above set forth, and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby instructed to mail a copy of this resolution to each Senator and Representative in Congress from this State.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 14.

Relative to the plan recommended by the Honorable Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, for the placing of returning United States soldiers upon farms.

WHEREAS, It has been recommended by the Honorable Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, that Congress immediately appropriate the sum of $100,000,000 for placing the returning soldiers of the United States upon farms, thereby inaugurating a plan whereby at least one hundred thousand men will be immediately employed in the creation of at least twenty-five thousand farms within the territory of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The plan as outlined by the Honorable Secretary of the Interior proposes the reclamation of approximately two hundred fifteen million acres of arid and swamp land within the United States at present unfit for cultivation because of the lack of water in the one case and drainage in the other; and

WHEREAS, The plan suggested is not a "charity scheme," and under appropriate management will be self funding, and will offer alluring opportunities to settlers as compared with the old land settlement systems, inasmuch as forty years time is to be given the settlers within which to reimburse the United States for the money and credit loaned to them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That the plan as outlined by Secretary of the Interior Lane meets with its heartiest and utmost approval, and that this Legislature urges upon the Congress of the United States the early enactment into law of the plan proposed and the appropriation of the money needed to carry out the provisions thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be, and he is hereby directed to forward copies of these resolutions to the Honorable Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, to the President of the Senate of the United States, Speaker of the House of Representatives and each of California's Senators and Representatives in Congress.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Relating to war loans made to allied governments by the United States.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced into the Congress of the United States a resolution reciting that it is the sense of that body that the loans made to the allied governments during the recent war be canceled without payment of either principal or interest; and

WHEREAS, The people of the United States are being heavily taxed because of the burdens imposed growing out of such loans; and

WHEREAS, There has flown into the countries of the allied nations in Europe which have been devastated by war a constant stream of money contributed by the generous people of America, and an immense amount has likewise been spent abroad by the government of the United States for supplies of all kinds and by the men of the American expeditionary forces for miscellaneous merchandise, to the very great financial benefit of European peoples; and

WHEREAS, It is our judgment that the cost of rehabilitation and reconstruction of countries physically devastated by the war should be borne by the governments which brought about these distressing conditions, and that such reconstruction and rehabilitation cost is not beyond the ability of such enemy nations to pay; therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That it is the sense of this Legislature that the cancellation of national war loans would be unpatriotic and unnecessary; and that our Representatives in Congress are hereby memorialized to that effect

WHEREAS, Post-war and reconstruction conditions have brought to these United States of America many problems of great import, and perhaps the one of greatest importance is the question of government ownership of the railways of the United States; and

WHEREAS, Our great democratic President, in whose wisdom we have every reason to confide, in his address to Congress on December 2d, said "The question which causes me the greatest concern is the question of the policy to be adopted towards the railroads. I frankly turn to your counsel upon it", and after making other illuminating statements on this subject, further says, "Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is perfectly clear to me is that it is not fair either to the public or to the owners of the railroads to leave the question unanswered, and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the roads, even before the expiration of the statutory period, unless there shall appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce one element of its solution, namely, certainty and a quick stimulation of private initiative"; and

WHEREAS, In wisdom, so characteristic of the man, our President has turned to Congress for counsel on this momentous subject, within his keen sense of justice endeavoring to deal fairly with the owners of the railroads and protectively of the public welfare; and

WHEREAS, We feel that the Congress of the United States will, by being informed of public sentiment, be better able to solve and direct the course of the problem, and recognizing the necessity, as expressed in the President's address, of relinquishing control of the railroads as quickly as possible, and the certainty of conditions that said release of the railroads by the federal government would immediately establish; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of this the thirty-sixth Legislature of the State of Texas, that we favor the return of the railroads to their owners as immediately as it can be accomplished without confusion or losses; and be it further

Resolved, That in all events we favor the return of railroads to their owners not later, but sooner if possible, than twenty-one months after the date of proclamation of peace by the President of the United States, as provided for in the act giving the federal government control of said railroads; be it further

Resolved, That we believe and think private ownership under strong Federal and State control and regulation, in service, income and disbursements is desirable. We do not believe federal government ownership of railroads is for the best interest of the people, be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House forward properly authenticated copies of this resolution to each United States Senator and member of Congress from Texas for their consideration, and a copy to the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of each State.

Adopted January 30, 1919

T. B. REESE,

Chief Clerk House of Representatives.

WHEREAS, Article I, section 21, of the constitution of California provides that no citizen or class of citizens shall be granted privileges or immunities which upon the same terms shall not be granted to all citizens; and

Resolved, That we, the citizens of the city of Long Beach, convened in mass meeting this Wednesday evening, February 19, 1919, do hereby protest against all Sunday laws or class legislation, declaring them to be unconstitutional and grossly unjust

LOUIS N. WHEATON, Chairman.

By Mr. Doran:

Petition to the Legislature of California.

The undersigned, citizens, electors and freeholders residing in the county of San Diego, State of California, respectfully petition the legislature of the State of California, and represent.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced at the current session of the legislature, Senate Bill No. 168, the second section of which is as follows

"Sec. 2. The boundaries of said district are hereby declared to be as specifically described in that certain document recorded in book 53, page 93 et seq., miscellaneous records in the office of the county recorder of said county, California"

And

WHEREAS, The certain document recorded in book 53, page 93 et seq., referred to in said section 2 of said Senate Bill No. 168, purports to be a resolution and order of the directors of the Cardiff Irrigation District (created in 1916 and comprising about 700 acres within its boundaries), which assumed to annex to said irrigation district territory comprising about 24,000 acres, within which territory your petitioners are freeholders, and otherwise interested, and

WHEREAS, In fact said Cardiff Irrigation District has no water rights or water system to supply any part of said new territory, and only a partial supply from wells to furnish the unincorporated village of Cardiff within its boundaries with domestic water; and

WHEREAS, Said Cardiff Irrigation District is indebted in the sum of about $10,000; and

WHEREAS, By the device of proceedings taken under sections 85 to 97, both inclusive, of the California Irrigation District Act, relating to "inclusion of lands," said Cardiff Irrigation District has undertaken to include said tract of 24,000 acres within its boundaries, and to that end, and as the result of said proceedings, has adopted said resolution, purporting to declare such inclusion, which resolution is the "certain document recorded in book 53, page 93 et seq.," referred to in section 2 of said Senate Bill No. 168.

Now, your petitioners protest against the passage of said bill upon the following grounds, among others

1. That said 24,000 acres of land, so far as the same is agricultural, is not adapted to irrigation, by reason of its broken contour extending across some eight distinct and approximately parallel natural watersheds; and is much broken in surface and is not irrigable from any source or by the same system of works.

2. That inasmuch as the Cardiff Irrigation District has no interest in any water supply for any part of said 24,000 acres, nor any system or part of any system of works to irrigate any part of said lands; and inasmuch as said lands can not be irrigated from a common source or by the same system of works, the proceedings taken by said Cardiff Irrigation District under said sections 85 to 97 of said act, to include said lands within its boundaries, are not applicable to the undertaking and are a perversion of the statute.

3. That the attempt to include said lands in such existing Cardiff Irrigation District is, in substance and fact, an attempt to create a new irrigation district involving the original acquisition of all properties contemplated by section 15 of the act, but an evasion of the provisions and safeguards of sections 1 to 12, both inclusive, of said act, among the purposes of which are to secure due regard for property rights, to require the full and fair consent of the majority in number and value of property owners, the investigation of the feasibility of the project and the final adjudication by the board of supervisors, as an impartial tribunal, of the question involved in the creation of a district and lastly, the affirmative action at the polls of at least two-thirds of the votes cast at the election, in favor of establishing the district, and that such attempt is to effect the invasion of constitutional and statutory rights of property owners within the territory proposed to be included within said Cardiff Irrigation District.

4. Your petitioners further protest, that the attempt to include said 24,000 acres is in furtherance of a defined project to bond such enlarged district for the purchase of a dam and reservoir site and alleged water rights known as the Carroll dam and Lake Hodges water system, at an enormous excess over the cost or value of the same. That the lands within the watershed of said dam and water system are almost all owned by the promoters of the annexation scheme, among whom are the owners of said dam and water system and owners of tracts subdivided into lots and holdings not suitable for irrigation but adapted to urban uses only.

That the lands within said watershed are capable of absorbing the full sources of water supply from said system. That to supply the remainder of the proposed additional territory from said system would involve diverting the water from the natural watershed of said system, to lands in no less than seven distinct watersheds. That the unloading of the said Carroll dam and the said Lake Hodges water system upon the Cardiff Irrigation District with its boundaries enlarged, as so proposed, would be to make the large proportion of the lands outside of the watershed of said system contribute to the payment for the same, without conferring the right to a proportionate use of such water system.

5. That while said Cardiff Irrigation District has no assets of any kind, the benefit of which it can confer upon said new territory, it can only offer to share its indebtedness with the lands proposed to be annexed in the proportion of the 700 acres within said Cardiff Irrigation District to 24,000 acres in the proposed inclusion.

6. Your petitioners further protest that said section 2, of said Senate Bill No. 168, is obnoxious to subdivisions 18 and 19 of section 25, article IV, of the constitution, as being a special act to legalize the unauthorized and invalid acts of the board of directors of a public corporation, to wit, Cardiff Irrigation District, and to grant to such corporation a special exemption and immunity from the provisions of the California Irrigation District Law, which governs the creation of an irrigation district.

Wherefore, your petitioners pray that said bill do not pass.

Dated: February 6, 1919.

And 95 others

By Mr. Kline:

RIVERSIDE, CALIFORNIA, January 16, 1919.

Assemblyman Chester Kline, San Jacinto, California.

DEAR SIR: Enclosed please find copy of resolution passed by the Orange Belt Honey Producers' Co-operative Exchange, in session on January 15, 1919. Your good offices will be appreciated.

WHEREAS, A bill has been introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Baker, of Los Angeles, to abolish the State Market Commission; and

WHEREAS, As producers, we feel that the State Market Commission has rendered the producers, consumers and the State a signal service, among other things, in successfully carrying out the provision of the marketing law in providing leadership in organizing the farmers into co-operative marketing associations.

WHEREAS, By organization, it has been made more possible to cut out waste in the cost of distribution, to find new markets for California farm products and to stabilize farm industries and, by thus keeping the producer producing, to more nearly insure to the consumer steady food supplies at fair and equitable prices, be it therefore

Resolved, That we the beekeepers of the Orange Belt Honey Producers' Exchange, assembled this fifteenth day of January, 1919, at Riverside, California, in annual meeting, do hereby enter our protest against any attempt to abolish the State Market Commission, which has performed and is performing a most valuable service to the producers and consumers of the State;

Resolved, That this exchange stands pledged to give its continued support to the State Market Commission and to its continued existence as one of the most important departments of the commonwealth that is adding to the growth and well being of the State.

H. T. WAGNER, President.
E. W. HORNE, Secretary.

By Mr Odale:

We, the undersigned, residents and voters of your district, respectfully request that you use your influence and vote against any bills which may be introduced in our Legislature, the object of which is to impose burdens or unfair conditions and restrictions or excessive license fees on rural retailers selling and delivering spices, extracts, toilet preparations, domestic and stock remedies, poultry supplies, dips and disinfectants, etc.

These retailers have their regular customers, and supply them at their doors with high-grade goods at reasonable prices and on very favorable terms, and we strongly protest against any legislation which will injure or restrict their business. Any such legislation would not only be unjust and unfair to them, but it would also be an imposition upon our rights as citizens to buy where we please and under advantageous circumstances.

We find their method of doing business both economical and convenient. They guarantee the quality of their goods, which we have always found to be very satisfactory. Their business affords suitable occupation for hundreds of men who are good, industrious, taxpaying citizens of our State, and legislation imposing unjust burdens on these retailers will have a tendency to destroy honest competition, foster monopoly and increase the cost of our household necessities, and we earnestly protest against the passage of such bills.

Respectfully yours,

MRS. M. F. POOLE,
And 80 others.

By Mr. Strother:

PROTEST AGAINST SUNDAY LEGISLATION.

B. F. WHITTECAR,
And 2,030 others.

By Mr. Wright, T. M.:

To the Assemblymen of the California State Legislature.

GENTLEMEN: We, the undersigned, employees of the Pacific Press Publishing Association, earnestly petition that the law now in force prohibiting women from working over eight hours a day be so amended as to permit women to work eight and one-half hours each working day, provided they are granted a half holiday on either Friday or Saturday, with the understanding, however, that they are not to work over forty-eight hours any one week.

PETITIONS.

By Mr. Merriam:

It is declared to be the sense of the legislative body of Long Beach, "That Senator Rominger and Assemblyman Merriam be urged to support the passage of the bill pending before the State Legislature providing for the review by the Supreme Court of rate decisions handed down by the Railroad Commission."

In support of such request the following communication is herewith submitted:

APPLICATION No. 3955

In re Southern California Edison Company Application to Increase Electric Rates.

I am in receipt of decision No. 61004 of the Railroad Commission of the State of California in the matter of the application of the Southern California Edison Company for authority to increase its electric rates, the same being a supplemental order relieving the city of Pasadena and the city of South Pasadena from the burden of the surcharge or increased rates placed upon the balance of the patrons of the Southern California Edison Company.

By reason of the fact that the city of Pasadena has a municipal electric plant which serves both the city of Pasadena and the city of South Pasadena at a rate considerably less than the rate which the Railroad Commission authorized the Southern California Edison Company to charge, it became necessary for the Southern California Edison Company to make application to meet this municipal competition in order to do business in those cities. Upon this application the Railroad Commission made this order permitting the Southern California Edison Company to serve its patrons in the cities of Pasadena and South Pasadena at less charge than for like service in Long Beach and in other cities in the district.

The surcharge or increase in rate allowed by the Railroad Commission to the Southern California Edison Company increases the cost of electric energy furnished to the city of Long Beach approximately $750 each calendar month.

Furthermore, the Railroad Commission authorized the Southern California Edison Company to make this increase in its charges to the city of Long Beach notwithstanding the fact that the city of Long Beach had invited bids for the furnishing of electric energy, awarded the contract to the Southern California Edison Company, the lowest and only bidder, and a contract in accordance therewith had been solemnly entered into by and between the city of Long Beach and the Southern California Edison Company to furnish electric energy in accordance with its bid. The Railroad Commission held that the Railroad Commission was not bound by contracts and that it had the power to authorize the Southern California Edison Company to disregard its contract with the city of Long Beach and place this enormous surcharge upon the competitive rate previously granted. The laws of the State of California vest the power to make public service corporation rates in the Railroad Commission exclusively and there is no appeal from its decision to any court or other body. Whatever errors the Railroad Commission makes must stand until it corrects the same.

All of the cities served by the Southern California Edison Company, except those served from municipal plants, are required by the Railroad Commission to bear a burden similar to that imposed upon the city of Long Beach in this surcharge.

There is a bill before the present Legislature to provide for an appeal from the decision of the Railroad Commission upon the question of fixing rates. Unless this bill or some other bill, be passed that will give relief, it is quite apparent that the establishment of municipal electric plants is the only solution of the electric energy problem, and the only way in which any city can offer to prospective citizens, manufacturers and other users of electric energy, facilities equal to neighboring cities with municipal electric plants.

In order that you may have fully before you the position of the Railroad Commission in this matter, I am quoting at length from its supplemental order.

"Southern California Edison Company asks for a modification of the order heretofore dated December 21, 1918 whereby it will be authorized to waive the surcharge authorized by the commission to be imposed upon consumers of electricity in the city of Pasadena and vicinity.

"This request is based upon the competitive condition in this community between electric service rendered by the municipality of the city of Pasadena and that which is rendered by this company. The imposition of the surcharge upon the rates therefore in effect on the service rendered by the company would at once put the company at the disadvantage of charging more than its competitor.

"We have, after very careful consideration, determined that the company's request must be granted. To hold otherwise would mean that the commission would deny the right of a utility company to maintain its existence by meeting the rates of its competitor.

"The commission would not ordinarily acquiesce in a company's desire to give lower rates to a portion of its consumers as compared with the rest even though the company were willing to absorb a resulting loss, because this would be discrimination not justifiable upon the sole ground that the company wished out of its own earnings to favor certain consumers. But this is a different situation. The company faces a municipal competitor which is charging low rates and it must either meet these rates or retire from the field. Retiring from the field would mean a loss of a very considerable part of the investment and a giving up of a market for power. Merely for the purpose of maintaining all consumers on an exact parity we should not compel a company to charge rates which will annihilate its service in competitive territory.

"Of course it is true that if we permit municipal competition to be met in a given community it should at all times be made definite and certain that consumers in noncompetitive territory be not burdened with the slightest additional cost or charge for service because of the comparatively lower rates in the competitive territory. If this condition be met we are convinced that no undue discrimination results where the rates in noncompetitive territory are fixed on a basis of reasonableness and are as low as they can be made considering the usual factors of operating expense, depreciation and reasonable return on investment."

Respectfully submitted,

WHEREAS, The Bay Cities Food Price Commission, composed of officially appointed representatives of five San Francisco bay cities, the Berkeley Defense Corps and the Berkeley City Council, and numerous women's clubs and other representative organizations of Oakland and other east bay cities, have petitioned the Legislature of the State of California to make a thorough investigation of alleged profiteering in foodstuffs and other necessities of life, and have asked that legislative body to enact laws that will adequately protect consumers from such practices, and

LAURA CAIRNS
And 76 others

By Mr. Gray:

WHEREAS, It is apparent that there is in California a combine of the milk producers and the distributors, each in separate but allied organizations, having for their purpose the fixing of prices to be paid, first to the producer, and second by the consumer, and

WHEREAS, It seems susceptible of proof that these organizations, especially those having to do with the production of milk, are largely dominated and controlled by certain corporate interests, and that it is their design to fix such prices to the distributors and thus indirectly to the consumers, of milk and milk products as will be in restraint of trade and thereby violate the spirit and purpose of the so-called Cartwright Law of California relating to trusts in this respect, and to use illegal and dishonest means of driving the independent producers and distributors out of business, and

WHEREAS, It is apparent that the State Market Commission Act of California is being used by Harris Weinstock, State Market Director, not primarily for greater business efficiency and the elimination of waste to the producer, but for the controlling of prices in many cases almost prohibitive, and the building up of organizations that are violating the design and purpose of this act and especially in the matter of milk, and

WHEREAS, Through some fault arising either from the fixing of prices, or the excessive overhead expense of distribution, or from a downright spirit of profiteering the price of milk in most parts of the State is too high, thereby putting a burden upon the people of moderate circumstances, but rendering the purchase in adequate quantities by the poor impossible, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Berkeley Defense Corps, composed of over 750 of the best citizenry of this city, that we demand that an immediate, thorough, fearless and painstaking investigation of the milk situation in California be made by our present Legislature, to the end that this most necessary and important food be secured to the whole people at prices that will at once yield to the producer a fair return and secure to the consumer a food at a price from which there has been eliminated all excessive charges, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be at once forwarded to our representatives at Sacramento, with instructions to at once introduce and urge the passage of the same to our Governor, to the City Council of Berkeley, asking its co-operation

By Mrs. Saylor:

We, the undersigned residents of Alameda County, State of California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of the American principle of the separation of Church and State, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN OF WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

The following report of Mr Wright, T M, chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, was presented and ordered printed in the Journal:

Mr Speaker and Members of the Assembly

In accordance with the request of your honorable body, report is hereby made of visits to the various State institutions during the legislative recess by the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee in company with the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Senator W. J. Carr. It was a matter of regret that, owing to the limited time at our disposal, we were unable to visit all of the State's institutions. We were able, however, to secure an insight into the needs of most of the institutions, and to grasp, in far greater measure, the scope of the work which devolves upon the State in the education of its youth, and the care of its criminal and dependent population.

The institutions were visited in the following order

Los Angeles Exposition,
Los Angeles State Normal School,
Norwalk State Hospital,
Whittier State School,
Southern California State Hospital,
Southern California Citrus Fruit Experiment Station,
San Diego State Normal School,
California School for Girls,
Santa Barbara State Normal School,
California Polytechnic School,
San Jose State Normal School,
Agnews State Hospital,
Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for the Adult Blind, California School for the Deaf and the Blind
San Quentin State Prison,
Mendocino State Hospital,
Sonoma State Home,
Veterans' Home of California,
Napa State Farm,
Napa State Hospital,
Chico State Normal School,
Durham Colony
Stockton State Hospital,
Folsom State Prison,
Preston School of Industry

STATE HOSPITALS.

This group of seven institutions, caring for the insane and feeble-minded, is at once a source of sadness and of gratification, sadness, at the number of those so afflicted among us, and gratification over the manner in which our State is meeting the problem. The home for the feeble-minded at Sonoma is included in this group. The population in these institutions is now approximately 11,500, and including employees and attendants, makes a total of over 13,000. The number of insane is steadily increasing, and cottages are filled as fast as completed. At Napa and Agnews, the inmates are sleeping on cots in halls, or on floors in the dormitories. New cottages, for which appropriations were made in 1917, and which are now under construction will relieve this overcrowding.

The cost of caring for our insane population has increased, owing to the advance in cost of foodstuffs, clothing and supplies, and also due to the increase in salaries of attendants and labor which was granted July 1, 1918. The amount of support and salaries required by these institutions has increased from $4,500,000 in 1917 to $5,850,000 at this session of the Legislature, or a cost of approximately 72 cents per day, for each insane person.

The hospitals are economically managed, and no waste is apparent. The treatment given the insane results in recoveries of one-third of those admitted. Patients are employed on the farms and in various industrial pursuits, with beneficial effects. The farms in connection with these institutions yielded $388,000 in the last fiscal year.

The Sonoma State Home has a population of 1,354, with 442 on a waiting list. Its greatest need is an adequate water supply and a sewage disposal plant. The establishment of Pacific Colony, for which $250,000 was appropriated in 1917, should take care of the crowded condition at Sonoma.

CORRECTIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

The State schools at Whittier, Ventura and Ione, with a combined population of 700, in ages up to 21, present problems in management peculiar to themselves. The heads of these institutions seem capable and devoted to the welfare of the boys and girls under their charge, and two-thirds of those who leave these schools "make good" in society. The recommendations of the Budget Board of appropriations of $255,000 for new buildings, equipment and repairs for these institutions are urgently needed.

STATE PRISONS

San Quentin and Folsom State prisons show a falling off in population during the war period, but since the cessation of hostilities are again showing an increase. There are 2,750 prisoners in these institutions. The operation of the jute mill, furniture factory, and other industries at San Quentin serves to lessen the cost to the State. Folsom is in need of an industrial plant which will serve to keep the prisoners employed. At present the only work performed is in a rock quarry and in building walls.

DEAF AND BLIND.

The Industrial School for Adult Blind has 141 students, with a waiting list. The cost per capita is $286 per annum. The institution is producing a profit of $14,000 per annum on its broom-making industry. It would seem that, in view of the small number now permanent residents of the school, and the hundreds of adult blind throughout the State who either do not know of the school or are unable to secure admission, that some change should be made by which the benefits of the school could be more widely distributed among our blind population.

The School for the Deaf and Blind has reached a point in its growth where it should now become two separate institutions, and propositions will be submitted to this Legislature with that end in view. There are 300 pupils in the school, one-third of whom are blind and two-thirds deaf, with nothing in common between these two classes. The annual cost to the State is $460 per pupil.

VETERANS' HOME.

The Veterans' Home at Yountville has 719 veterans, with 110 employees. Most of the inmates are veterans of the Civil War, and their average age is now 76. The population has been decreasing, but during the reconstruction period we are now entering, it is expected that Spanish-American War veterans, as well as those who have been engaged in the present war, will increase the population again. The annual cost is $327 per capita. The buildings and equipment are in need of considerable repairs—which the budget proposes.

CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL

The California Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo was closed on account of the influenza epidemic when visited. The farm of 1,000 acres, school buildings, live stock, and industrial equipment, have cost the State $400,000. In view of the small attendance at this institution (115 scholars) it is a question in our minds as to whether the State is warranted in expending $150,000 biennially, in addition to repairs, to maintain the school, and the suggestion is made that these students be either enrolled in the local high school or in the University Farm School at Davis. This would make available a site for a much larger State institution.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

The attendance at the eight State normal schools has fallen off to such an extent as to present a serious problem, particularly in the smaller schools. There is certainly no need for additional normal schools in California and there is a question as to the wisdom of maintaining schools already established when the attendance falls below 100. Students who formerly looked forward to teaching as a profession are apparently entering other, and more lucrative, pursuits. With the falling off in attendance the cost per pupil has increased, and we suggest the consideration by this Legislature of discontinuing those schools whose attendance is thus lowered, and the cost of support ($100,000) plus buildings and repairs ($250,000) be made available for other State needs.

DURHAM COLONY.

The Durham Colony, under the Land Settlement Board, was one of the most interesting and hopeful projects visited. Here the State of California, under the terms of the land settlement act of 1917, is promoting closer agricultural settlement, assisting deserving and qualified persons to acquire small improved farms, providing homes for farm laborers, and preparing agricultural land for settlement. Under this plan the State has embarked upon an effort to subdivide large tracts of lands into small farms, and assists the small investor, with limited capital, to establish himself on the land, under a plan of twenty-year payments, with 5 per cent interest. What was formerly one large tract of land at Durham has been subdivided into 20, 40 and 80-acre holdings, where 115 homes have been established. It is to be hoped that an opportunity will be given the members of this Legislature to visit Durham Colony during the session, and that the project there being carried out may be applied in other parts of the State where large tracts of land are available.

IN CONCLUSION.

It is impossible and probably inadvisable, to discuss in this report the appropriations asked by, or on behalf of, the various institutions. What information we have gained will be freely shared with our committees, and with any member interested. Every opportunity was given at the institutions for investigation, and every possible courtesy shown. Efficiency and economy mark the handling of the State's interests throughout.

JOSEPH M. ARGABRITE,
ALBERT A. ROSENTHINE.

The Joint Legislative Committee appointed to investigate the condition of unemployment and report to the Legislature met in San Francisco on January 31, 1919, for the purpose of organization.

A subsequent meeting was held in that city on February 2, at which a large number of persons whose official positions, experience, and training was such as to make them most likely to be conversant with labor conditions in California were present and participated in the considerations of the committee.

Among those addressing the committee were P. J. Hayselden, Employment Manager of the San Francisco Ship Building Company, C. C. Moore, who, as Chairman of the State Counsel of Defense, had been making some inquiry into reconstruction problems, Paul Scharrenberg, Secretary of the Immigration and Housing Commission, Adjutant General Borree, Prof. C. C. Plehn, Professor of Finance of the University of California, Solomon Bloom, Associate Professor of Economics of the University of California, Ira B. Cross, Associate Professor of Economics of the University of California, C. B. Sexton, Superintendent of Bureaus of the State Employment Bureau, W. T. Boyce, California Director of the United States Employment Service, and H. S. Maddox, Secretary of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

At the conclusion of this hearing, the committee adjourned with the understanding that the various members would prosecute individual inquiry in their respective districts and particularly that those members of the committee coming from agricultural communities would ascertain the existence of unemployment and, so far as possible, the prospective labor condition in such communities.

From the testimony of those who have appeared before the committee, and, as a result of the individual investigations of the members, it appears that there is no unusually acute condition of unemployment existing in the State of California at the present time. In the large centers of population there are now, as there were during the winter months in all years when there was no unusual industrial activity, a considerable number of unemployed men, but the extent to which this condition is aggravated by the returned soldiers appears to be negligible.

Some considered that the situation might become acute if a stimulation in industry were not brought about. Mr. Sexton estimated that there were ten thousand unemployed in San Francisco, four thousand in Fresno, two hundred in Chico, and two hundred in Marysville. This is not an unusually large number to be seasonally unemployed. Business has slackened up and practically every line has had a marked drop off. Business has been slackened by the lack of orders and the cancellation of war contracts. For instance, the Hercules powder plant has had to reduce the plant from four thousand to seven hundred fifty men. Most cement plants are closed. Owing to the season of the year, there are also men from the lumber camps, fisheries and canneries, and agricultural work out of employment.

The employers generally have shown a generous spirit in re-employing men discharged from the service. The unions are very fair to the returned soldiers and sailors.

The Federal Employment Bureau is providing facilities for the employment of men discharged from the service and has opened registration bureaus at demobilization centers. The State Employment Bureau also gives preference to soldiers and sailors applying to it in securing work. The State Soldier Unemployment Committee, of which Adjutant General Borree is chairman, has a comprehensive plan for the organization of local committees for the replacement of soldiers.

Employment can be found for discharged soldiers and sailors, but not always the kind of work desired by them. To some extent civilians are displaced by discharged men; this may become more serious as more men are discharged. There is a tendency for the ex-service men to congregate in large numbers in the cities where it is more difficult to place them. This is due to mustering out in a few centers.

Senator Evans made an investigation of the labor situation in and around Los Angeles and reported no soldier unemployment problem there at the present time, but that quite a number were coming there from other places and might complicate the future.

What the succeeding months may bring forth in this regard as the soldiers continue to arrive is, of course, problematical, and your committee finds a distinct difference of opinion among those in a position best qualified to make predictions. A feeling of optimism, however, predominates, and among those coming in most direct contact with the varying conditions of unemployment there was evinced a decidedly hopeful feeling that spring activities in construction and other lines would in all probability absorb whatever labor the returning soldiers might have to offer.

This belief, however, is largely founded upon confidence that capital will not be unduly timid and that a reasonable degree of courage will be evinced in the forwarding of new projects.

Due to war conditions, construction work of all kinds has been held up. On account of the difficulties of readjustment, private construction is likely to be delayed. All persons agreed that the State should push all necessary public work, that the State should make available funds for every possible construction work, even at additional cost, that what is needed is immediate work.

In this connection, it is the judgment of your committee that the State should set a salutary example in the forwarding of its own projects. It is the belief of your committee, as a result of these investigations, that such public construction and building enterprises as have been delayed and interrupted by war conditions should now be urged with all practical vigor. To this end the various State officials and employees having control of State projects involving the employment of labor should bear in mind the desirability of commencing work upon such projects at the earliest possible moment.

The Legislative Reference Department of the State Library, at the request of the committee, collected a large amount of data on unemployment relief and the soldier unemployment. A copy of this report is annexed to the report. The data collected from other states and the federal government emphasizes public work as a buffer employment in periods of economic depression.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1 The committee found the seasonal labor problem a far-reaching one with many ramifications. In the limited time the committee could not adequately investigate the situation. But it was ascertained from the information obtained that this is an annually recurring problem in this State and one of general public importance, especially in the rural districts. Some seasons it is more intense than others.

At the peak of the harvest there is apparently a shortage of laborers. In the winter months there is a general cessation of farm work and certain other industries, such as lumbering, fisheries, canneries and construction, throwing many people out of employment. There seems to be no compensating industry in the winter to take up this surplus. The committee could not obtain sufficient evidence of the numbers of workers and their particular employment, or make a thorough canvass of the situation adequate for a basis of any remedial legislation. It is convinced that the seasonal unemployment situation yearly confronts California, and that it goes deeply into the social and economic conditions of our State.

The committee therefore respectfully suggests that the Governor call upon the University of California, the State Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Immigration and Housing Commission and other State departments to make a thorough investigation of the seasonal labor conditions, in order that an adequate plan may be devised for stabilizing the labor demand throughout the year.

2 Your committee believes that the great body of young men which has been removed from the industrial life of our nation should be given a reasonable period in which to accomplish its readjustment without being brought into direct competition with the labor of countries whose standards of living are so far below those to which our young men have a right to aspire, and to this end your committee recommends that the Legislature memorialize the Congress of the United States to restrict immigration for a period of years, in order that sufficient time may elapse for the Americanization of certain elements of our population.

3 It is reasonable to suppose that on account of the small pay which the soldier receives and the considerable amount thereof devoted to allotments insurance, the purchasing of Liberty bonds, etc., many of our returning soldiers find themselves embarrassingly short of funds upon their discharge, and therefore your committee recommends that the Legislature memorialize Congress to grant to each soldier one month's furlough pay with soldier's allowance for the first six months of service thereafter, the same to be paid to the soldier immediately upon muster out from federal service as part of his final statement. These involve payments which have actually been due the soldier and which, in many cases, would be a very timely assistance, tiding him over the period until he can satisfactorily work out his own replacement.

4. Many soldiers are mustered out at some distance from their home locality. This tends to a congestion at points where demobilization takes place, and causes hardships on the part of the men individually. Your committee therefore recommends that the Legislature urge the War Department to return the soldier to the locality from which he was inducted into service for demobilization, thereby giving him the opportunity to make an industrial place for himself under conditions with which he is familiar.

5 The State has a great wealth of natural resources undeveloped. The development of these would lead to great industrial activity and open an era of prosperity and development, but we are now facing a period of industrial stagnation in which private capital is timid. The shifting of many industries from a war to a peace basis complicates the present conditions. The development and construction work on the part of the State would set a salutary example to private enterprise and furnish an opportunity for the employment of many men. Also pave the way for the development of the State's natural resources. Soldiers and sailors should be given a preference in employment on all State construction and development work. Therefore your committee urges the pursuance of as vigorous a policy of State construction work at this time as the State finances will permit.

6. The State is in great need of buildings for the adequate housing of State offices. Bond issues have been authorized, but construction withheld during the war. The construction of these State buildings would employ a great many men of various trades and stimulate many subsidiary lines of employment. Therefore your committee urges the immediate construction of all public buildings for which bond issues have been authorized.

7. It is indisputable that the development of the State's resources requires new highways. In the construction of highways a great many persons can be employed, and the employment be distributed throughout the State. Therefore the committee urges the immediate commencing of highway construction, and recommends that the $3,000,000 provided for by the State bonds be used for initiating this work with a minimum contribution from the counties, but that it be equitably apportioned and divided between the roads named in the State bond issue whereby said bonds were voted.

8. Your committee wishes to heartily endorse the State Land Colonization plan and that special regard should be given to the development of the project to provide for soldier and sailor settlements.

9 Your committee endorses the recommendations made by the State Committee on Soldiers' Employment and Readjustment which are contained in a letter from Adjutant General J J Boirie, chairman, which are attached hereto and make a part of this report.

10. Realizing that it is impossible to determine long in advance when a period of unemployment is likely to occur and that there should be some board to meet this problem when it does arise, the committee makes the following recommendation.

Your committee therefore suggests the creation of an Emergency Public Works Board composed of important State officials, such as the Governor, the Commissioner of Labor Statistics, a Highway Commissioner, the Controller, Secretary of the Immigration and Housing Commission, and the State Engineer. The purpose of this board would be to plan that a certain portion of public work not immediately necessary be saved and done during periods of unemployment.

It should be its duty to secure from the various departments of the State tentative plans for extensions of necessary public works during periods of unemployment. These plans should be complete enough so that work can be begun on such projects on the shortest notice.

It should indicate to the State departments the advantage of saving up portions of their public works to be done during periods of unemployment.

To urge the municipalities and counties to adopt a similar policy, and to co-ordinate all public works within the State.

It should recommend to the Legislature methods by which certain appropriations for public works will become available only during a period of unemployment.

It should recommend methods by which the bond issues for necessary public works, previously authorized for use during periods of unemployment, may become promptly available at such times.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR, STATE COMMITTEE ON READJUSTMENT,

FERRY BUILDING, SAN FRANCISCO, February 27, 1919

To Miss Esto Broughton, Chairman Committee to Investigate Replacement Soldiers and Sailors, State Capitol, Sacramento, California

Subject: Resolution—Public Improvements

1. We are sending you the following resolution adopted by the State Committee on Readjustment under date of February 24, rather than sending it to the Speakers of the Assembly and the Senate, as was originally intended:

WHEREAS, Many and extensive building plans and projects made and provided by the United States government and also by the government of the State of California are now being delayed and are not put into immediate operation as was originally contemplated by the enactments provided therefor, because their appropriations are insufficient to cover present increased costs of construction; and

WHEREAS, The State Committee on Readjustment of California believes that the United States government and the government of the State of California, in order to stimulate private business and to re-establish the confidence of the people, should begin at once all construction possible and put at once into operation all measures that have been adopted for this purpose

Wherefore The State Committee on Readjustment hereby urgently recommends that the Legislature of the State of California give serious consideration to the advisability of immediately appropriating sufficient funds to cover such deficits and take such steps therein as may be deemed by the Legislature proper in the premises in order that the said plans and projects for work may be begun at once, and

The State Committee on Readjustment further recommends that the Legislature of the State of California at once memorialize the Congress of the United States and request that the Congress give immediate impetus to all government construction by the appropriation of adequate sums of money to complete all work outlined, and that the Congress also provide for and start at once all new construction possible.

The aforesaid resolution was regularly adopted by the State Committee on Readjustment of California at its meeting held on February 24, 1919, at San Francisco, California, with the direction that copies of the aforesaid resolution at once be sent to the Governor of the State of California, and also that copies of this resolution be sent to the Council of National Defense at Washington, D. C., and to the United States Senators and Representatives of the State of California.

STATE COMMITTEE ON READJUSTMENT.

J. J. BORREI, Chairman

REPORT ON UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF AND SOLDIER EMPLOYMENT FOR THE JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE OF THE FORTY-THIRD LEGISLATURE, APPOINTED PURSUANT TO ASSEMBLY
CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 12.

(California State Library Law and Legislative Reference Department, February 14, 1919)

This report endeavors to provide the members of the committee with a brief statement of past movements to prevent recurring periods of unemployment and of present efforts to avoid an aggravated condition of unemployment following military demobilization.

The material in the report will show that three standard remedies for unemployment have been put forth at various times:

- 1 Encouragement of public works
- 2 Free employment offices
- 3 Unemployment insurance.

Of these three remedies, unemployment insurance has been in effect in several European countries, and especially in Great Britain since 1911. Because of the new social policies involved, no action has been taken in the United States beyond the recommendations of investigating committees.

Free employment bureaus have been established in foreign countries and have recently been created in many American states and cities and for the past year by the United States Government. This method, therefore, is already being actively carried forward.

Encouragement of public works, the first remedy mentioned, now seems to be receiving the greatest attention from federal and state officers, especially for relieving the temporary inequality in the labor market following army discharges. The method adopted by Pennsylvania in 1917 in creating an Emergency Public Works Commission to regulate public works has been endorsed by the United States Department of Labor as the appropriate method to be followed by other states and suggestions for such an act drawn up (Appendix II). The Kenyon bill, now pending in Congress and endorsed by labor officials, provides for a federal emergency public works commission.

Only brief summaries have been attempted in the report. Detailed information desired on any of the subjects of the report will be furnished by the California State Library.

The report on "Soldier Employment," dated February 6, 1919, and a list of bills before Congress relating to extra pay, and other assistance for discharged servicemen, was prepared at the request of the State Committee on Soldiers' Employment and Readjustment

A. UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

- I. Laws now in effect attempting solution of unemployment problem
- (a) The United States Government

The United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor, created in January, 1918, by the Secretary of Labor under his general statutory powers, is the only federal agency assisting in the relief of unemployment

Prior to 1918, several efforts had been made to create a national system of labor exchange, but failed.

A commission to prepare and recommend a plan for the establishment of a national insurance fund and for the mitigation of the evil of unemployment was proposed in 1916 in Congress, but the resolution never came to a vote

- (b) State governments.

Except in Pennsylvania, legislation has been confined largely to creating investigating bodies to determine remedies of unemployment. Such bodies were created in 1913 in Illinois, in Colorado, Illinois, New Jersey and Pennsylvania in 1915, in Maryland in 1916, in Oregon and North Carolina in 1917. The findings of these committees was in general to recommend the establishment of free public employment offices and the regulation of private offices and the extension of public works during periods of unemployment. State legislation has been enacted along these lines as follows:

1. State employment offices created in the following twenty states

California	Minnesota
Colorado.	Missouri.
Connecticut	Nebraska.
Illinois	New Jersey.
Indiana.	New York
Iowa	Ohio
Kansas.	Oklahoma.
Kentucky.	Pennsylvania.
Massachusetts.	Rhode Island.
Michigan.	Wisconsin.

In several states without state exchanges, municipal offices are operated

2. Encouragement of public works

One of the recommendations of the Pennsylvania committee created in 1915 to study unemployment was the encouragement of public works. An Emergency Public Works Commission was thereupon created in 1917 to arrange a schedule of public improvements. The act creating this commission, together with action taken in other states to encourage public works, will be found appended as Appendix I

- (c) Foreign governments.

Two standard methods of unemployment relief have been in effect for some years, with varying modifications, in European countries and the English colonies. These are:

1. Employment bureaus or exchanges, either free or subsidized. These have been established in England under the Labor Exchanges Act of 1909, Canada in 1918 to supplement the provincial offices, Australia; Germany; France; Italy; Austria; Hungary; Denmark; Holland

2 Unemployment insurance

This was first tried in the Belgian city of Ghent by means of a municipal subsidy to the funds of trade unions which granted out-of-work benefits. The plan was adopted successfully in other municipalities and in 1911 was put into effect on national lines in Great Britain as Part II of the National Insurance Act of 1911.

Great Britain

Voluntary subsidies—

France

Norway

Denmark

Belgium

Holland

Local—

Germany

Italy

Switzerland

In Great Britain compulsory unemployment insurance is required in the following trades: Building trades, construction of works, shipbuilding, mechanical engineering, iron founding, construction of vehicles, sawmills. In other trades insurance is voluntary. The insurance fund is composed of contributions from employees, employers and the Government. The compulsory provisions were extended in 1916 to persons engaged in munitions works and other war industries.

II Recommendations of government investigating bodies for relief and prevention of unemployment

(a) United States Industrial Relations Committee, created by act of Congress of August 23, 1912

In its report of August 23, 1915, the commission made recommendations concerning both the migratory laborer and unemployment in general.

1. Cheap transportation.
2. State or municipal workingmen's hotels.
3. Colonies for unemployable.

Recommendations on unemployment in general were:

1. Establishment of a national employment system, under Department of Labor, to regulate interstate employment offices, prepare plans for regularization of employment, decentralization of labor utilization of public works to fill in periods of business depression, unemployment insurance in such trades and industries as may seem desirable.

2. Creation of a special federal board to prepare plans for performing the largest possible amount of public work during the winter and creation of similar state and municipal boards.

(b) United States War Labor Policies Board of the Department of Labor

A detailed program for the encouragement of public works, similar to the Pennsylvania Emergency Public Works Act, was recommended by this board to the Governor's Conference at Annapolis, Md. in December, 1918.

The substance of the proposed act urged for passage by the states will be found as Appendix II.

(c) Massachusetts Committee on Unemployment

A system of state unemployment insurance, based on the English system was recommended and a bill introduced in 1916 to carry out the plan.

(d) Ontario Commission on Unemployment, 1916

A thorough study and detailed recommendations were made as follows:

1. Regularization of industry by private employers through following means:
 - Improvement of methods of employment and training. Adding new lines of product to insure greater continuity of employment.
 - Standardize certain products which can be made in slack season.
 - Securing orders longer in advance, to determine output.
 - Develop export trade.
2. Public work in periods of depression.
3. System of provincial labor bureaus.
4. Vocational guidance.
5. Land settlement.
6. Unemployment insurance.
7. Industrial centers for the physically handicapped.

(e) New York City Mayor's Committee on Unemployment, 1916

This committee was appointed primarily to handle the unemployment distress in 1914-15, but on its disbanding recommended the extension of city and state labor exchanges and the national system of employment exchanges. The study of employment insurance also was recommended.

A permanent investigating committee was appointed on January 27, 1916, to study the following questions:

- Seasonability and irregularity of unemployment
- Public policy as to exchanges, public works, unemployment insurance
- Industrial training and vocational guidance
- Relief and emergency employment

The report of this committee has not been received.

(f) Chicago Mayor's Commission on Unemployment 1914

This committee was also organized to relieve immediate distress but made the following recommendations for permanent relief:

- 1 Unemployment insurance on the Ghent plan.
- 2 Convalescent hospitals where persons discharged from county hospitals may be kept until able to work.

III. Recommendations by associations and individuals studying unemployment

(a) International Association of Unemployment, organized 1910 to co-ordinate efforts to combat unemployment.

The American Association for Labor Legislation is the American section of the International Association. No program has been formulated by the International Association, its work and that of its sections being devoted principally to historical, statistical and comparative studies of the standard suggestions for unemployment relief, such as employment bureaus, unemployment insurance and encouragement of public works. (Rev. 2403).

(b) American Associations for Labor Legislation American Association on Unemployment (These two organizations are practically identical in personnel)

Under the auspices of these organizations the First National Conference on Unemployment met in New York, Feb. 27-28, 1914. Establishment of state and municipal employment bureaus and a federal bureau to supplement their work was urged. As a result of resolutions urging further study of the organization of the labor market, regularization of industry, vocational guidance, systematic distribution of public works and unemployment insurance, the following "Practical Program for the Prevention of Unemployment in America" was proposed in December, 1914.

- 1 Establishment of public employment exchanges
- 2 Systematic distribution of public work.
- 3 Regularization of industry.
- 4 Unemployment insurance
- 5 Other helpful measures—
 1. Industrial training
 2. Agricultural revival.
 - 3 Constructive immigration policy
 - 4 Reducing number of young workers by excluding child labor up to 16 years
 - 5 Reduction of excessive working hours
 - 6 Constructive care of the unemployable

These associations supported the bill in the Sixty-fourth Congress providing for a national system of employment exchanges, and a committee of the conference has drafted a public unemployment insurance bill for introduction into State legislatures.

After the unemployment crisis of 1914-15, three associations, after a survey of the situation made three standard recommendations in November, 1915:

1. Organization of the local community under a mayor's committee etc
2. Education of public regarding problem
- 3 Emergency relief, through workshops, lodging houses, etc
- 4 Separation of unemployable and unemployed.
- 5 Industrial training for unemployed
6. Employment exchanges.
7. Encouragement of public work
8. Regularization of industry.
- 9 Unemployment insurance.

(c) Proposal for a federal labor reserve board for the unemployed.

A federal board which shall do for the labor market what the Federal Reserve Board does for the money market is suggested by William M. Leiserson, Professor of Political and Social Science of Toledo University and formerly superintendent of the Wisconsin employment office. Such a board would operate a national labor exchange system, regulate public work, encourage self employment, prevent overcrowding in certain industries and provide system unemployment insurance.

(d) Reconstruction policy of the British Labor Party on unemployment.

1. A ten years program of national and local government works and services—including housing, schools, roads, railways, canals, harbors, afforestation, reclamation, etc., to maintain the aggregate total demand for labor.

2. Prohibition of overtime in excess of prescribed normal working day.

3. Extension of unemployment insurance and increase in government subsidies.

IV. Efforts for State relief of unemployment in California

(a) Immigration and Housing Commission

This commission was requested by Governor Hiram W. Johnson in the early part of 1914 to make a study of the unemployment problem and suggest remedial measures to be taken by the government. In a report made December 9, 1914, the commission made the following recommendations:

1. Creation of State Bureau of Labor Exchange, to co-operate with the Railroad Commission to provide low fares for migratory laborers.

2. Stringent supervision of private employment agencies.

3. State supervision of sanitation and housing in labor camps.

4. Better housing laws.

5. Investigation by some State commission of the following questions:

(a) Out of work insurance

(b) Care of unemployable and vagrant

(c) Regularization of industry.

(d) Public work in times of depression

6. System of rural credits.

7. Laws to make difficult fraud in sale of lands.

8. State Land Bureau to give information regarding economic uses of land.

The commission also presented a plan for handling unemployment and relief during the winter of 1914-1915, which included use of municipal lodging houses and organization of charity relief.

On June 25, 1915, the commission, in reporting on the relief work during the winter, recommended that in the future emergency relief work be laid out by both State and local governments each year which would be ready in case of emergency and absolute necessity. Its suggestions regarding such work were as follows:

1. This work should be generally distributed so that it would be accessible to the unemployed in different sections of the State.

2. It must be elastic such as can be taken up or conveniently discontinued at any time, to meet the varying demands.

3. It must leave labor mobile. Not only should it be so conducted as to prevent the attracting of labor from other channels, but it should be of such a character that it will cause labor to quickly withdraw whenever employment in the ordinary lines is available. In brief, it should serve as a sort of reservoir into which excess labor may be diverted and from which it will freely flow when needed elsewhere.

4. Idle labor from outside the State must not be attracted to California by this work. It should be limited primarily to residents.

5. Examples of work available for this purpose:

With her undeveloped resources, California can supply abundant projects meeting all requirements:

(1) Irrigation projects

(2) Levee work in the Sacramento Valley

(3) Drainage canals, as in the Fresno section

(4) Road building. Work on State highways should be so arranged as to make it applicable wherever possible for unemployment emergency purposes.

(5) Forestry work, such as tree-planting, construction of firebreaks and certain forms of lumbering.

(b) Governor Hiram W. Johnson's views

In his biennial message to the 1915 Legislature, Governor Johnson regarded the question of unemployment as national in character, and that its solution must come from the nation.

"What we, as a State, can do is merely palliative, and is very little, indeed."

(c) The California Highway Commission's use of unemployed

This commission was asked by the Governor in March, 1914, to try the experiment of maintaining a camp where unemployed from San Francisco would be given work. The result of the experiment is summarized by Commissioner Stern as follows:

"From the standpoint of value received, the experiment was not a success to the State. From the standpoint of humanity and the State's moral responsibility toward its dependents the experiment probably offered a temporary relief that was worth while."

(d) The Social Insurance Commission on unemployment insurance for California

In its report of January 25, 1917, this Commission regarded unfavorably the introduction of unemployment insurance until the amount of unemployment is further reduced and until simpler forms of social insurance are enacted.

(e) Proposals submitted in the California Legislature.

Bills have been introduced in each session since 1913 dealing with unemployment, as follows:

1. Investigations—Congress urged to investigate in 1915 by Assembly Joint Resolution No. 14, which passed. A State Commission on Unemployment was proposed in 1913 by Assembly Bill No. 1497 and in 1915 by Senate Bill No. 1259, and an investigation by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in 1913 by Senate Bill No. 1278.

2. Public Work—In 1917 use of unemployed on public work urged by Assembly Bill No. 502. In 1917 an appropriation of $10,000 to be used by the State Labor Commission in furnishing seed and tools to localities providing unemployment (Senate Bill No. 934) and in 1915, an appropriation of $1,000,000 to be used by the State Board of Control in giving employment on public work (Assembly Bill No. 501) were proposed.

3. Farms for unemployed—County labor farms, or factories and shops were proposed in 1913 (Senate Bill No. 898), and a State farm for the unemployed proposed in 1915 (Assembly Bill No. 670).

4. Commissioner for Abolition of Poverty—This was to be a new State office to administer unemployed relief and study problem (Assembly Bill No. 1025, 1913).

Except for the resolution in 1915 urging Congress to make an investigation, none of these measures were favorably acted upon.

B. SOLDIER EMPLOYMENT.

1. Plans by United States Government

(a) United States Employment Service.

The United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor is proceeding with a vigorous campaign to secure employment for returned soldiers and sailors. Bureaus for returning soldiers and sailors, under a national superintendent, are being established by the U. S. E. S.

The San Francisco bureau is at 93-95 Market street, and is under the direction of William T. Boyce, federal director for California, 806 Claus Spreckels Building, San Francisco. This agency was indorsed for handling re-employment work by the home-service bureau of the American Red Cross and representatives of 11 other agencies which have endeavored to give aid in finding employment. Representatives of the service are also stationed in training camps.

Community bureaus in every community to assist in finding employment is the objective of the plan. The Secretary of War has requested draft boards to co-operate in the work.

(b) Federal Board for Vocational Education

Disabled soldiers are cared for by the Smith-Sears Vocational Rehabilitation Act of June 27, 1918, which provides for vocational education of disabled soldiers by the Federal Board for Vocational Education. Soldiers trained by the board are given employment through the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor.

(c) Other agencies

Opportunities for State highway construction have been canvassed by the Bureau of Public Roads of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A report issued January 10, 1919, showed over 100,000 jobs were open on such work throughout the country.

The United States Civil Service Commission is providing special opportunities for soldiers and sailors.

The War Department, on January 23, 1919, issued an order permitting men to remain in the service until they find civil employment.

Land settlement for soldiers on the unimproved land in western states in co-operation with states, has been urged by Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane. A bill is now pending in Congress to provide for land surveys and bills have been introduced in several western states providing for co-operation. Similar undertakings have been set under way in England, Canada and Australia.

2. Plans by other states

(a) New York

A reconstruction commission, appointed by Governor Alfred E. Smith, held its first meeting January 24. It has divided into committees on all subjects relating to reconstruction. The committee on unemployment has announced it will study question of encouraging public works.

(b) Massachusetts

Two proposals for a reconstruction commission are now before the Massachusetts Legislature. One provides for a commission of ten to study, among other problems, utilization of discharged soldiers and sailors in civil employments and preference in public appointments, employment of surplus labor on public works, conversion of munition industries to peace basis, encouragement of production of articles not made hitherto in state, land settlement for soldiers. The other is for a commission of fifty, with less specific duties, which is to report to the Legislature May 1 of the present year.

Preference in civil service appointments, special retirement benefits and free licenses as hawkers and peddlers are provided by other bills.

The State Board of Education in 1918 was authorized to provide training for disabled soldiers, in co-operation with the U S Government.

(c) Pennsylvania

A complete industrial survey by the State Department of Labor and Industry was made early in 1918 for the purpose of finding opportunities for employment of crippled soldiers. The survey showed where over 42,000 crippled soldiers could be placed. The state now plans to co-operate with the Federal Board for Vocational Education in the placement of men in these positions.

The state already has an Emergency Public Works Commission to encourage public works in periods of unemployment. This is described under section 4.

(d) New Jersey

Governor Walter B. Edge in his message to the Legislature, urged road-building, land settlement and encouragement to private industry as means of securing employment for soldiers and sailors.

(e) Oregon.

A soldiers' and sailors' commission of five members has just been created by the Legislature "to provide such care and extend such financial assistance as the commission shall determine to be reasonably required" by soldiers, sailors and marines. An appropriation of $100,000 was provided for carrying out the act.

Land settlement for soldiers, in co-operation with the United States Government, preference in civil service appointments and in employment by contractors on public work, and property exemptions from taxation are provided by pending bills.

(f) Washington.

A legislative committee to present an advisory report on reconstruction to the present Legislature urged in pending resolutions.

County aid to indigent soldiers and preference in civil service appointments are provided by pending bills.

(g) Arizona

Preference in civil service appointments and in employment on public work and land settlement for soldiers, in co-operation with the United States Government are provided for in pending bills.

(h) Iowa

Preference in civil service appointments and certain exemptions from taxation are provided for in pending bills.

(i) Wisconsin.

Creation of county soldiers' relief commissions, temporary aid to indigent soldiers, and preference in civil service appointments are provided in pending bills.

3. Plans in foreign countries.

(a) Great Britain.

A department of demobilization and resettlement, under the Minister of Labor, was recently established to facilitate re-employment through free employment exchanges and unemployment insurance.

Disabled soldiers and sailors are assisted in securing training by the Ministry of Pensions in co-operation with local war pensions committees. These local committees also co-operate with the employment exchanges of the Ministry of Labor in finding employment. A series of reports showing opportunities for disabled soldiers in 16 trades has been issued.

(b) Canada

The dominion employment service is giving special attention to placing returned fighters.

The department of soldiers' civil re-establishment is providing training courses in nearly 200 courses. A monthly magazine presenting opportunities for employment is published for use of returned soldiers. An industrial survey has been made to find opportunities.

Civil service preferences are given in both the dominion and provincial governments. Extensive programs for land settlement are being carried out by the dominion and provincial governments.

(c) Australia

Land settlement and civil service preferences are among the aid provided.

A measure is pending in New South Wales to create an "unemployment fund" in each industry to be used in extending work and providing work. The fund is created by contributions from employers, employees and the government.

(d) France

The National Office of Disabled and Retired Soldiers, under the ministries of labor and social welfare, co-ordinates work of placing soldiers.

(e) Italy

The Italian Superior Labor Council has recommended, as part of a reconstruction program, the encouragement of public works as follows:

(a) Highways, railways, waterways, buildings, especially schools.

(b) Equipment for public service, such as ships, engines, tractors, railroad cars, etc.

(c) Hydroelectrical development.

Disabled soldiers are cared for by the national commission for the protection and assistance of men disabled in war, which endeavors to train men for retention in army, admission to civil service or re-employment with private concerns.

4. Efforts to stimulate employment in times of unemployment.

Pennsylvania provided in 1917 for an Emergency Public Works Commission to stimulate public work in time of unemployment. The text of the law, together with notes on efforts in other states is contained in the statement on "Unemployment relief by state action," attached at the end of this report.

The United States War Labor Policies Board, at a conference of state governors in December 1918, urged the adoption of a similar law in other states.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF BY STATE ACTION

1 Extension of public works during time of extraordinary unemployment

Pennsylvania provided in 1917 for an Emergency Public Works Commission authorized to extend public works during times of extraordinary unemployment. The powers and duties of this commission are provided for by statute (Laws of 1917, p. 1193) as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted etc. That, in order to provide increased opportunities for employment in useful public works of this Commonwealth during periods of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression, there is hereby created a fund to be known as the emergency public works fund.

Sec. 2. The Governor of the Commonwealth, the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, and the Commissioner of Labor and Industry are hereby constituted a commission, for the custody, management, and disposition of the said fund, and for the performance of such other duties as are prescribed by this act, to be known as the Emergency Public Works Commission.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the said commission to proceed forthwith to ascertain and secure from the various departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions of this Commonwealth tentative plans for such extension of the public works of the State as shall be best adapted to supply increased opportunities for advantageous public labor during such periods of temporary unemployment; together with estimates of the amount, character, and duration of said employment, the number of employees who could be profitably used therein, together with rates of wages and such other information as the commission shall deem necessary.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the Industrial Board of the Department of Labor and Industry, in co-operation with the various bureaus of the said department, to keep constantly advised of industrial conditions throughout the Commonwealth as affecting the employment of labor, and whenever it shall be represented to the said board by the Governor of the State, or the said board shall otherwise have reason to believe, that a period of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression exists in the Commonwealth, it shall be the duty of the said board to immediately hold an inquiry into the facts relating thereto, and to find and report to the Governor of the Commonwealth whether, in fact, such condition does exist.

Sec. 5. In the event that the Industrial Board shall report to the Governor that a period of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression does in fact exist within this Commonwealth the said commission is hereby authorized to make such disposition and distribution of the said Emergency Public Works Fund, among the said several departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions of the Commonwealth, for such extension of the public works of the Commonwealth under the charge or direction thereof including the purchase of materials and supplies necessary therefor, as shall, in the judgment and discretion of the said commission, be best adapted to advance the public interest by providing the maximum of public employment, in relief of the existing conditions of extraordinary unemployment, consistent with the most useful, permanent, and economical extension of the works aforesaid.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, immediately upon the publication, under this act, of a finding that a period of extraordinary unemployment due to industrial depression exists throughout this Commonwealth, to cause to be prepared by the appropriate bureaus of his department approved lists of applicants for public employment, and to secure from such applicants, or otherwise, full information as to their industrial qualifications, and to submit the same to the Emergency Public Works Commission for transmission to such departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions as shall avail themselves of the provisions of this act. And it is further provided, That no person shall be given employment in the works contemplated by this act who shall not be a citizen of the United States, and shall not have been a resident of the State of Pennsylvania for a period of six months prior to his or her application for said employment; Provided, further, That this section shall not apply to such additional employees as shall, in the judgment of the head of said department bureau, board or commission, be necessary to prepare the necessary plans for the said extensions, and to provide the materials and equipment therefor, or to supervise the conduct thereof.

Sec. 7. The sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) is hereby appropriated to the said Emergency Public Works Commission, from public moneys not heretofore otherwise appropriated, to be held in the said Emergency Public Works Fund for the purposes of this act.

Sec. 8. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. This act shall take effect immediately upon its passage.

Oregon adopted a similar plan in 1915 in the following resolution (Stats. 1915, p. 615)

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That the Board of Control of the State of Oregon be requested and urged to so plan the letting of all contracts for the state wherever labor is to be performed; and to so use their good offices and influence as to cause all labor to be performed by and for the state, at such time in the year as to furnish labor to the unemployed, and be it further

Resolved That such Board of Control be requested to urge upon all municipalities and all other agencies employing labor to so segregate their work to be done, as to aid in the solution of the problem of furnishing labor at all seasons of the year for the unemployed.

2. Forestry work

Massachusetts provided in 1915 for the employment of needy persons by the State Forester (Special Acts and Resolves, 1915, p. 393)

3. Encouragement of local improvements

Idaho authorized boards of county commissioners to provide employment on the public highways during periods of unemployment (Stats. 1915, p. 80). This is typical of action taken in several other states.

PETITIONS.

By Mr Argabrite:

Resolved, That we, the Ventura County Beekeepers, after due consideration of Assembly Bills Nos 766, 779, 782 and 798 most earnestly protest against the passage of same, in all and singular, for the following reasons, to wit

That Assembly Bill No. 782, appropriating a large sum for a scientific laboratory at Berkeley, is unnecessary, as the United States government has a much better one with a corps of experts far superior to any State institution, and that such an appropriation would be a criminal waste of the taxpayers' money

We further protest against Assembly Bill No. 797, as the counties of California have a law regulating and controlling the moving of bees and bee materials, and providing for their inspection, and do not need the help of the already overworked Horticultural Commission

We further protest against Assembly Bill No. 766 as inequitable and vicious, as it puts a special tax of 10 cents per hive on the apiarist who pays on all his property, and this is double taxation and creates a new fat commission, adding an additional burden on the taxpayers. The 10-cent tax will amount to about $200,000 annually, and is to be spent under the direction of the Horticultural Commission (Sec. 18), and which does not include fines and other graft. In section 22 they drain the State treasury of $15,000 more to finance their scheme, and in section 23 provide for a revolving fund for which the honorable fat commission needs to give account.

We further protest against Assembly Bill No. 779, as it robs the beekeeper of any voice in selecting his inspector, and places it all in the hands of the Horticultural Commission, and further, in section 7, it places all county inspection in the hands of the county horticultural commission and requires the board of supervisors to pay from the county treasury and not from the huddle fund derived from the doubly-taxed beekeeper, and further, in section 9, robs the State treasury of $10,000 more to further this act

Believing that these four bills above enumerated are in the interest of "plum hunters" and treasury raiders, and favoring a policy of consolidation and abolishing, rather than creating new commissions; be it

Resolved, That this association requests the honorable board of supervisors of the county of Ventura to take such action as will induce the Assembly of the State of California to not permit these bills to pass.

The foregoing resolution is seconded by C C Orr, and unanimously carried

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 12.

Relative to amendment of the existing treaty between the United States and Great Britain, proclaimed December 8, 1916, in order that certain migratory birds may be shipped, sold or offered for sale after they are killed.

WHEREAS, That certain treaty between the United States and Great Britain, proclaimed December 8, 1916, provides, among other things, that migratory ducks and geese may be killed when, under extraordinary conditions, they become a menace to agricultural and other interests in any particular community, under permits issued by the proper authorities, but contains a provision that no birds killed under the authority so granted shall be shipped, sold, or offered for sale; and

WHEREAS, It follows that should there be such a number of migratory ducks and geese as to seriously injure agricultural and other interests, it would be necessary in all probability to kill large numbers of such wild birds, and therefore great loss of good food would be caused, if it be not permissible for them to be shipped, sold or offered for sale; and

WHEREAS, The rice growing sections of California have experienced, and are experiencing, great damage by reason of the flocks of wild ducks and geese that have invaded the rice fields, destroying crops each year to the amount of millions of dollars, it having been estimated that during the winter season of the years 1917 and 1918 these birds destroyed rice in the amount of approximately twenty million pounds; and

WHEREAS, It is only common justice to the farmer that he should be compensated in some degree for the loss he sustains from the incursions of these migratory birds, and should at least be allowed to sell the birds that he necessarily must kill in order to protect his crops, now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully requests the honorable Secretary of State of the United States to negotiate a modification of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain above mentioned to the end that those portions of article VII of the treaty which require that ducks and geese killed under the provisions of said article shall not be shipped, sold, or offered for sale, shall be modified to allow the shipment and sale of birds so killed; and be it further

Resolved, That California's Senators and Representatives in Congress be, and they are hereby requested to urge upon the Secretary of State of the United States the desirability of this change in the treaty; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he hereby is directed to forward copies of these resolutions to the Honorable Robert Lansing, Secretary of State of the United States, and to each of California's Senators and Representatives in Congress

And 19 others.

By Mr. Browne, M. R.:

The undersigned, representative of the mining industry of California, most respectfully protest the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142 providing for Sunday closing.

Mining is quite different from other industries, in that it depends to a great extent upon seasonal conditions, more especially with respect to the rainfall, as water and the electrical energy produced therefrom are the two principal elements required in their operations.

The suspension of such operations for any period of time at a smelter or in a quartz mill tends to produce serious property deterioration.

The high cost of operations at a great many of the mines at the present time, requires a maximum output in order to produce a profit. A reduction of nearly 15 per cent in yearly output, without a corresponding decrease in operating expense, would most seriously affect operations of this character.

Fully 75 per cent of the mine employees of the State are opposed to the passage of this measure, for the sole reason that it would deprive them of the wages that they are permitted to earn under present conditions, as evidenced by the numerous petitions presented at the 1917 session of the Legislature, protesting similar measures.

Most of our mines are situated in isolated districts, affording very little recreation, and employees prefer to take an extended vacation once a year, rather than to abstain from employment one day in each week.

Under present conditions, employees who entertain conscientious scruples against the performance of labor on Sunday, are most cheerfully granted leave of absence during such period.

Yours most respectfully,

CALIFORNIA METAL PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION.

By ROBERT I. KERR, Secretary-Treasurer.

By Mr. Kline:

Relative to the proposed legislation affecting the State Market Commission, the Banning Almond Growers' Association, Banning, California, submits the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Certain bills having been recently introduced into our State Legislature, the purpose of which is either to abolish the State Market Commission, or to restrict and cripple its usefulness; and

WHEREAS, This commission having been brought into existence for the purpose of stabilizing and developing agricultural enterprises, thus increasing production, of removing speculation in food products and preventing abnormal or unjust prices to the consumer, of returning to the farmer a fair share of the proceeds of his toil and investment without unjust increase in cost to the consumer, and

WHEREAS, Since marked success along these several lines has followed the efforts of the present Market Commissioner; and

WHEREAS, To the farmer and not to the speculator belongs the return of the farming industry; and

WHEREAS, Without proper encouragement and assistance along these lines California agriculture can not be maintained at its present high productive capacity; and

WHEREAS, Since the farmer, from Adam's time to the present, has been woefully lacking in business methods, he must depend for advice therein on outside agencies or be the prey and victim of those who would fatten at his expense; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Banning Almond Growers' Association denounces the attempt to deprive us of expert marketing advice as unwise, unjust, and coming at this particular time when the world is beseeching the farmer to "speed up," we brand it as the act of an enemy of progress and good government, and be it further

Resolved, That we appeal to every member of the Legislature and to the Governor, to oppose these bills and all others inimical to the farming industry, the success of which is so supremely important at this time. We take it this is no time for a retrograde movement in agricultural practice. Further, that he is an obstructionist and unpatriotic who would now retard in any way the development of our agricultural interests along the lines of accepted, modern business methods, and be it further

Resolved, That we call upon all farmers' organizations in California and upon all farmers not members of any organization to demand of their Senators and Assemblymen in the present Legislature that they get busy at once and help to create such a sentiment against all forms of imposition upon our calling as will irrevocably defeat the proposed handicap as outlined in Senate Bill No. 369 and Assembly Bill No. 46.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

By Mr Merriam:

We, the undersigned employees of the Soft Water Laundry Company, Long Beach, California, do hereby petition your support of Assembly Bill No. 63.

HELEN S PEARCE,

And 39 others.

Also:

We, the undersigned members of the Pasadena Duck Club, respectfully request you to vote against Assembly Bill No. 6. Should this bill pass it would not only be a detriment to ourselves and the general public, but also to the Eastern sportsmen who spend their winters in Southern California.

ED R. BRALEY,

And 11 others

Also:

We, the undersigned legal voters of Long Beach and vicinity, Los Angeles County, are informed that a bill is pending in the State Legislature which, if passed, will establish compulsory military training in all high schools and colleges of the State.

Believing that such a policy would be a serious mistake and a backward step in our civilization, we most respectfully but earnestly petition you to do all in your power to defeat the passage of said bill.

We would call your attention to the law passed at Sacramento in 1917, providing for physical training and education of all boys and girls, and urge that it is sufficient.

We also call attention to the rapid advance toward disarmament in the league of nations which has already been accepted by fourteen nations. The allies have successfully terminated a war against Prussian militarism and autocracy. We do not now want to bind on our people a law compelling such military training.

JOHN C. CHARLES,

And 50 others

Also:

We, the undersigned voters of your district, resident at Long Beach, being satisfied that the interests of many thousands of holders of benefit certificates in fraternal societies in this State will be best protected by the passage of Assembly Bill No. 524, respectfully urge you to cast your vote for said bill and use all honorable means to aid in its passage.

MILLIE C. FOOTE,

And 42 others

By Mr. Carter:

We, the undersigned voters of your district, resident at Los Angeles, being satisfied that the interests of many thousands of holders of benefit certificates in fraternal societies in this State will be best protected by the passage of Assembly Bill No. 524, respectfully urge you to cast your vote for said bill and use all honorable means to aid in its passage.

MRS. MARY A. DAY,

And 64 others

By Mr. Ambrose:

We, the undersigned voters of your district, resident at Los Angeles, being satisfied that the interests of many thousands of holders of benefit certificates in fraternal societies in this State will be best protected by the passage of Assembly Bill No. 524, respectfully urge you to cast your vote for said bill and use all honorable means to aid in its passage.

CLARENCE BRIDLEY,

And 78 others

By Mr. Cleary:

We, the undersigned, most respectfully ask that you support Assembly Bill No. 196, which provides that chiropractors shall be examined by a State Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

MARGARET JANE COX,

And 39 others

By Mr. Kasch:

We, the undersigned residents of the State of California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of true Americanism, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

B. F. EDDY,

And 14 others

By Mr. Cummings:

WHEREAS, The interests of thousands of men and women, voters of this State, can best be served through the enactment of legislation extending the scope of operation of fraternal benefit societies into the wider field of co-operative insurance, and

WHEREAS, There is before the State Legislature a bill which, in the event of its passage, will make true co-operative insurance possible, stable, safe and permanent, opening a new era to the holder of every fraternal benefit certificate in the State; and

WHEREAS, It appears, after mature deliberation, that the early passage of Assembly Bill No. 524 is much to be desired at this time, in the interests of the many thousands of fraternalists in the State, therefore, be it

Resolved, By Straight Timber Circle No. 207, Neighbors of Woodcraft, in regular meeting assembled this fourteenth day of February, 1919, that we heartily approve said bill, and hereby urge the members of the Senate and Assembly from this legislative district to vote for and in every honorable way give support to said measure.

This resolution passed by the vote of members of Straight Timber Circle No. 207, and copies ordered sent to members of both Assembly and Senate from this district

Also:

We, the paper carriers of San Jose, learn that there is a bill before the Legislature which, if passed, will prohibit boys under the age of eighteen from working on paper routes before six o'clock in the morning.

We do not feel that this work interferes with our school work. On the contrary, the money earned in this way enables many of us to continue school and otherwise we might be forced to quit school because of insufficient family funds.

We do not feel it is injurious to our health. On the contrary, the hour or hour and a half spent in carrying a newspaper route is really just good exercise. Those of us who carry morning routes have from three o'clock until bedtime in which to do what we please. Our bedtime, however, is from eight to nine o'clock. We get as much sleep as boys who get up late and get to bed late.

We think that the Legislature should determine that the boys under eighteen years of age should have the right to do this class of work, which gives us money with which to take care of a portion of our schooling expense.

We will appreciate it very much if you will give this careful consideration.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS.

By Mr. McCray:

We, the undersigned residents of the State of California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of the American principle of the separation of church and state, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

W. S. KEEN,

And 1,904 others.

By Mr. Goetting:

We, the undersigned grocers of San Francisco, residents of the State of California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of the American principle of the separation of church and state, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

J. D. OSBORNE.

By Mr. Kline:

We, the undersigned residents of Riverside County, California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of true Americanism, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

HAROLD BLACK.

By Mr. Bennett:

We, the undersigned carriers on the San Jose Evening News, wish to ask that you not pass the Assembly Bill No. 553, for if you do it will take away our positions, which we badly need, for with this money earned we help buy our own clothes, and if we did not have a route we would never own a bicycle or a great many other things which make life a joy for any boy under 16 years of age. Hoping that you will see the injustice this bill will do to thousands of young boys who wish to show a little independence by their ambition, we are,

Yours truly,

CHARLES H. RODGERS.

And 25 others.

Also:

We, the paper carriers of San Jose, learn that there is a bill before the Legislature which, if passed, will prohibit boys under 18 from working on paper routes before 6 o'clock in the morning.

We do not feel that this work interferes with our school work. On the contrary, the money earned in this way enables many of us to continue school, and otherwise we might be forced to quit school because of insufficient family funds.

We do not feel it is injurious to our health. On the contrary, the hour or hour and a half spent in carrying a newspaper route is really just good exercise. Those of us who carry morning routes have from 3 o'clock until bedtime in which to do what we choose. Our bedtime, however, is from 8 to 9 o'clock. We get as much sleep as boys who get up late and go to bed late.

We think that the Legislature should determine that the boys under 18 years of age should have the right to do this class of work which gives us money with which to take care of a portion of our schooling expense.

We will appreciate it very much if you will give this careful consideration.

C. J. CARTER.

And 15 others.

Also:

We, the undersigned residents of Santa Clara County, California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of true Americanism, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

O. D. CAMP.

And 125 others.

By Miss Broughton:

We, the undersigned residents of Yosemite, California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of the American principle of the separation of church and state, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

CLARE HODGES SEIVERSON.

By Mr. Baker:

We, the undersigned voters of your district, resident at Los Angeles, being satisfied that the interests of many thousands of holders of benefit certificates in fraternal societies in this State will be best protected by the passage of Assembly Bill No 524, respectfully urge you to cast your vote for said bill and use all honorable means to aid in its passage

MRS. MAUD M CRAWFORD,

Also:

We, the undersigned, most respectfully ask that you support Assembly Bill No 196, which provides that chiropractors shall be examined by a State Board of Chiropractic Examiners.

LENORE M. NUNEZ,

And 18 others.

By Mr. Johnston:

By Mr. Price:

We urge careful consideration of Assembly Bills Nos. 844, 932, 933, 196, 321, 402 and 780, also Senate Bill No. 384. We consider that they tend to lower educational standards and render inoperative the best features of the medical practice act. We are against them.

COMMUNICATION

The following telegram was presented by the Speaker, and ordered printed in the Journal:

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8, 1919

Hon. Henry W. Wright
Speaker of the Assembly,
Sacramento, California

With reference to effort of United States government to secure reduction in present percentage of five and one-quarter per cent on gross receipts of federally controlled roads in California, may I emphasize railroad administration's belief that war conditions have resulted in a tax situation from which federal government is reasonably entitled to relief of your State. Atchafon, Southern Pacific, Salt Lake, Western Pacific, and Northwestern Pacific gross receipts in 1917 were approximately $114,000,000. In 1918 were $129,000,000, an increase gross of $15,000,000. Taxes for 1918, based on gross receipts for 1917, were approximately $6,000,000. Taxes for 1919, based on gross receipts for 1918, were $6,800,000. Revenue from movement of troops, government employees, material and supplies for 1918 were $4,000,000. Decrease on said five roads in net operating revenue for 1918 compared with 1917, $7,290,000. Hence there is an increase of gross revenue of $15,000,000 upon which taxes must be paid, although the net revenue decreased $7,290,000 during the same period. In other words, taxes upon government controlled property have increased in inverse ratio to its earning power, which is a result not contemplated when statute was passed, and not applied to other property, but due entirely to war conditions. These taxes do not affect income of corporate interests who are reimbursed by government upon prewar conditions, but come out of federal treasury, which must also meet other tremendous war obligations. Raising of freight and passenger rates was necessary because of war conditions, but increased gross receipts have, as you will see by above figures, fallen short by more than $7,000,000 of increased operating expenses, due to increased wages and increases in cost of material and supplies, which have directly gone back into channels of trade and commerce in your State and into increased savings of employees. The gross receipts include $6,000,000 increased revenue received from federal government for movement of troops, government employees, material and supplies made necessary by the war and State should not expect federal government to pay taxation on such receipts. I sincerely hope that we may be given relief from these unavoidable conditions, and to that extent help government to meet the burdens which it must carry. I am satisfied that State does not desire to collect taxation based upon a deficit. This telegram is being sent to Governor Stephens, Lieutenant Governor Young, and Speaker Wright.

WALKER D. HINES.

Director General of Railroads.

MOTION.

Mr. Merriam moved that the reply of the State Board of Control to the above telegram be printed in the Journal.

Motion carried.

REPLY, OF STATE BOARD OF CONTROL

The following reply was sent to the above telegram by the State Board of Control:

Walker D. Hines,
Director General of Railroads,
Washington, D. C.

Answering your telegram March 8 regarding railroad taxes in California. Budget expenses of State have been made on basis of expected income, including increased railroad taxes, and funds not available to refund to federal government without disrupting State finances. California's peculiar system makes it only State called upon in this way, and if we refund to national government, our people will have to replace such amount in treasury, although they have already contributed their share of railroad increased income in freight and passenger charges paid, while the benefit to government will be spread over other states of nation that are making no refund. Intrastate roads and other corporations of State were affected by federal rate advances, but State cannot refund to them and would be forced to increase their taxes to restore amount so refunded. Just now need of State for money is as great as nation's, and the logic of conditions here indicates that if matter is opened Legislature would probably raise rate. Impression prevails that Southern Pacific, Atchison and Salt Lake have made money in California in 1918.

Chairman State Board of Control

The Stanislaus Automotive Trade Association desires to enter protest of our eighty members against passage of Assembly Bills Nos. 249, 615, 872, 939 and Senate Bill No. 373. Every automobile dealer member has patriotically supported the local, State and national government throughout the war, and in some instances dealers have witnessed the practical suspension of business without complaint; but all now feel that, with business just opening up, the enactment of any one of the above bills will do untold damage and no apparent good.

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, March 10, 1919.

To the Honorable Assembly, State of California.

We, carriers of the San Francisco Chronicle in San Jose, wish to protest against Assembly Bill No. 553. Some of our reasons are: We will not be allowed to work, as all of us are under eighteen years of age, many school boys depend on their work to keep them in clothes and books. Would it be fair to keep them from working? All of us feel that working keeps us out of mischief. Working in the morning adds to, rather than detracts from, our health. We have just as much recreation and sleep as though we were not working. Hoping you will consider this

CHARLES COOK, and 9 others.

Also:

To the Assembly, State Capitol, Sacramento, California

GENTLEMEN We, the undersigned carriers on the San Jose Evening News wish to ask that you do not pass Assembly Bill No. 553, for if you do it will take away our positions which we badly need, for with this money earned we help buy our clothing, and if we did not have a route we would never own a bicycle and a great many other things which make life a joy for boys under 16 years of age. Hoping that you will see the injustice this bill will do to thousands of young boys who wish to show a little independence by their ambition we are yours truly,
